A REVOLUTION IS PREDICTED

As a Result of the Execution of Ferrer.

KING ALFONSO IS HORRIFIED

At the Storm of Protest It Arouses.

Denounces Ministers for Keeping Him in the Dark as to the Feeling of Spain and All Europe in the Matter — Regiment of Troops Mobilized for Emergencies—Palace Guards Doubled.

Madrid, via Hendaye, Oct. 14.—Information received today from Spanish court circles says that King Alfonso is horrified at the storm of protest that has poured in over the execution of Francisco Ferrer at Barcelona, yesterday. He is denouncing the ministers on whose advice he allowed the court-martial's sentence of death to be carried out, declaring that they kept him in ignorance of the real state of the public mind not only in Spain, but in all Europe.

It is reported that the Spanish cabinet offered to resign, but that Alfonso demanded that his ministers remain at their posts and help to extricate him from the difficulty.

There is no doubt in the minds of those who have seen the king since the execution that had he known Ferrer's death would have caused such a furore he would have gone to any extreme to have prevented it.

Scores of Threats.

Scores of death threats have been received at the palace to guard against the execution of which the palace guard has been doubled, and a regiment of troops mobilized for emergency action.

Opponents of the ministry are making the most of the opportunity and have succeeded in stirring up a feeling of animosity toward the king which exceeds that which characterized the days of the Spanish reverses in Morocco. A clipping bureau is busy flooding the king with press extracts which call Ferrer a martyr, his execution a plain murder, and comparing Alfonso with Ferdinand II., of Naples, who was nicknamed King Bomba for his ruthless bombardment of Messina.

Many of the leading papers openly predict a Spanish revolution as either the direct or indirect outcome of Ferrer's death.

The last request made by Ferrer that he be allowed to face his executioners with eyes unbandaged was not allowed.

"You are a traitor and not entitled to look upon your executioners," General Eserin replied.

"It really doesn't matter," said Ferrer as the bandage was tightened across his eyes. "Aim straight and make sure. Long live the modern school."

As the condemned man's lips framed these last words, the order to fire was given and he fell, pierced by half a dozen bullets.

Goading Spain.

Paris, Oct. 14.—The Radicals of France are determined to goad Spain into a revolution. The execution of Francisco Ferrer is believed to have prepared the way for a bloody upheaval against King Alfonso and the monarchy, and labor unions, socialists and anarchists throughout France are determined to keep the agitation alive until they force a revolution.

Plans were revealed today whereby it is proposed to continue demonstrations in the hope that their Spanish brothers may be led to action. Hundreds of mass meetings have been called for next Sunday and the day promises to be one of the most eventful in years. No violence will be attempted at these meetings, it is said, but owing to the fact that many of the most revolutionary speakers in France have been engaged to address the crowds the police are fearful of demonstrations and are preparing for a serious outcome.

The French Feeling.

As indicating the temper of the French people, President Fallieres, who spent the day at the Juvisy aviation meeting, was under a heavy guard. Several extra battalions of zouaves were on the scene in anticipation of a demonstration against the president, or an attempt to destroy the new dirigible balloon, Espana, which has just been sold to Spain. The Espana was scheduled to make its initial maneuvers at Juvisy today, but the feeling against the Spanish government is so acute that the balloon will probably be kept in its shed.

Premier Briand, Prefect of the Police Lepine and other officials are preparing to prevent a repetition tonight of last night's revolutionary demonstration, when a mob of 10,000 engaged in a clash with the police which resulted in the death of a sergeant of police and injury of scores of rioters.

Soldiers in the barracks of the city and at Versailles have been ordered to be in readiness.

The Spanish embassy is cordoned with soldiers today to prevent an attack. When the Spanish ambassador left the embassy for a short time today, mounted police rode on either side of his carriage.

The city council will be asked to rename one of the Paris streets in honor of Ferrer.

Reports from Brussels and other capitals where anti-Spanish demon-

LODGE IS UNDER INVESTIGATION

State Wants To Know About a Dayton Concern,

WHICH TAKES IN A LOT OF MONEY

And Pays Out but Little to Its Members.

The International Liberty Union Grand Lodge, of Dayton, Takes in Since 1907 About $75,000 from Members and Pays Out $6,441. W. G. Critchlow and Wife Hold Bulk of Stock.

Columbus, O., Oct. 14.—The state authorities have under investigation the International Liberty Union Grand lodge, of Dayton, a secret society whose members are largely southern negroes, although it is run by whites and both white and black are eligible to membership.

The organization, according to state examiners, who were sent to Dayton to investigate on complaint of southern insurance commissioners, is absolutely in the control of W. G. Critchlow and his wife, of Dayton, the wife being known in the order as "J. H. Elliott."

State Insurance Commissioner C. C. Lemert, today, issued a formal warning for persons not to join the order, or continue to pay its dues, on the supposition that they are deriving insurance from it. While insurance features seem to be inducements offered, Commissioner Lemert declares the order is not doing an insurance business, nor is it doing a fraternal benefit business.

Concern Begins Business.

The concern began in 1902 as the International Laborers' union, changed the name to the Liberty union, and finally incorporated in 1907, under the name of the "I. L. U. lodge." The representative form of government is not enjoyed by the members, but it is run by the stockholders and Critchlow and wife own 8,980 of the 9,598 shares of one dollar each Critchlow and wife secured 8,000 shares at fifteen cents each, but the other stockholders paid par or more.

The examination disclosed that, since the concern was incorporated in 1907, it has collected about $75,000 from members and paid in benefits but $6,411, the difference going in salaries and expenses, as the books show. Critchlow is president, and his wife, secretary-treasurer.

Represented in Marion.

A chief claim of the concern is that it aids the laboring classes in getting better wages and conditions.

The Ohio business of the concern seems to have left it for some reason, but the officers informed Commissioner Lemert that lodges at Cleveland, Middletown and Springfield were applying for reinstatement and lodges at Columbus, Dayton, Zanesville, Chillicothe, Marion and Hamilton are in working existence under their charters from the "Grand" lodge, but are no longer paying the dues to the "Grand" lodge.

The order pays a death benefit not exceeding $100 when the trustees deem it wise and not otherwise.

[No such order is known to have a lodge in Marion.—Tel. Ed. Star.]

MYSTERY HAS BEEN SOLVED

Mutilated Remains of Young Woman Identified

AS THOSE OF MISS JULIA E. GRINNELL

Step-Mother of Young Woman Makes Identification.

The Murder Is an Unusually Brutal One—Girl Is Cut to Pieces Almost as Soon as the Vital Spark Has Fled, an Ax Being Used for the Purpose—Girl Is Killed by Having Her Throat Cut.

Tiverton, R. I., Oct. 14.—The murder mystery which has been puzzling all New England since the finding of the torso of a young woman in a swamp near here has been solved. All the portions of the young woman's body, save the head, had been found, from day to day, and search was being made for the head in the hope of identifying the remains, when Mrs. Sarah Grinnell, of No. 20 Murray street, Fall River, today identified the remains as those of her step-daughter, Julia E. Grinnell.

After a thorough examination of the limbs and torso of the Tiverton murder victim, Mrs. Grinnell identified the remains. She based her belief in the peculiar shape of the hands and big toe of the dead girl which, she claims, correspond with those of her stepdaughter, who has been missing for ten weeks.

Believes Woman Wrong.

Medical Examiner Stimson believes that the woman is wrong, since the missing girl is the mother of an eight-months-old baby while the murder victim gives no evidence of having ever borne a child. Miss Grinnell was about the same size as the girl whose body was found, was immature in appearance and walked with a limp. She was employed in the White-Sagamore mills of Fall river.

The father of the child is Frank St. Cyr, of Fall River, who was released from the county jail in New Bedford two weeks ago after conviction on the girl's complaint. He will be interviewed at once by the Fall River police at the Border City mill where he is employed.

The police had given up hope of identifying the body until the head was found. A callous place on the right foot, a stiffness of the right ankle and a corn on the middle toe of the left foot are the only marks they found.

Encouraged by the offer of a reward of $500, made by Governor Draper, practically every member of the whole countryside is engaged in a search for the missing head, starting from the point where it is believed the crime was committed and working in widening circles.

That the murder was one of almost unparalleled atrocity is declared by Medical Examiner Stimson and Doctors Ecroid and Sherman of Newport, who assisted at the autopsy. From the condition of the torso they declared the girl was killed by having her throat cut with one sweep of the knife. Then, the physicians say, an ordinary ax was brought into play and the body chopped to pieces almost before the last breath had left the body.

Some Part Found Daily.

What the authorities think may prove a good clue was the discovery in the Apponegansett river at New Bedford of a bundle of men's and women's clothing which bore the laundry mark of "3-929." Investigation in all the laundries of Fall River, New Bedford and Taunton failed to find the owner of these clothes.

Curiously enough, every day since the murder was first known some portion of the girl's body has been found, and the news that the head has been discovered is expected before nightfall.

The arms and the foot and ankle of the right leg was found late yesterday about a mile south of the spot where the torso was found. They were near the road, and had evidently been thrown from a speeding automobile.

The autopsy occupied two hours. At its conclusion all were reticent. The medical examiner would only say: "There was evidence of an attempt at illegal surgery. There were no signs of peritonitis." He would not state the cause of death, agreeing with the other physicians that this could not be definitely decided until the head is found. Dr. Sherman said:

"The unknown girl was in a delicate condition and the appearances are that an illegal operation had been attempted."

Hunt To Continue.

Tiverton, R. I., Oct. 14.—New England is today searching for a human head, in the hope that it will clear up one of the most puzzling mysteries of years and relieve the anxiety of several fathers and mothers who are sure that the dismembered body that has been found in pieces in the woods near here is that of their own daughter. All the portions of the chopped up body with the exception of the head have been found and Medical Examiner Stimson, after a thorough examination, has made the statement that the fiends who cut up the body began their bloody work almost before the spark of life had left the girl.

The woods are being scoured by a great posse, and if the girl's head remains in the vicinity it will probably be found and the identity of the girl will be settled as to whether it is Amelie St. Jean, nineteen, of Woonsocket, or Mildred H. Higgins, fifteen, of Boston, or one of the other half-dozen girls who have been reported missing in the past few days, though the police declare their belief that the body was that of Miss Higgins.

Only a Child.

The Boston girl was only a child in years and not fully matured, while Miss St. Jean, who was nineteen years old, was more fully developed than the dismembered body found here. Amelie St. Jean, whose father is Joseph St. Jean, of Woonsocket, left her home there last Monday to live with an aunt, Mrs. J. B. Lamoreux, of Fall River; with the idea of working in the mills there. Shortly after her arrival at the home of her aunt, the girl disappeared. Last night the Fall River police rounded up a young man of that city and put him through a grilling "third degree." They declare he could not give a full account of his whereabouts on last Sunday, and he was about to be placed formally under arrest when

BILLY BOY GOES TO SURE DEATH

Rides Across Stifling Sands of the Desert.

FLEES FROM THE POSSES PURSUING

Indian Murderer Hard Pressed for Food.

Attempts To Steal Milk from a Ranch-House and Is Scared Away by the Shotguns of Two Women. Posses Swear Not To Sleep Beneath a Roof Till the Indian Sleeps Beneath the Sod.

San Bernardino, Calif., Oct. 14.—Riding to sure death across the stifling sands of the desert, Billy Boy, the Indian lover and desperado, who jeers at armed posses and fights them with reckless abandon, has fled from two women.

The first real clue as to the whereabouts of the multi-murderer came today in a telephone message from Mrs. James Burleigh, who lives at Houston flats on the desert side of the San Bernardino mountain range. She telephoned that Billy Boy, gaunt from hard riding and constant watchfulness, passed her ranch yesterday. He carried a repeating rifle and two belts of cartridges. Billy Boy dismounted from his horse when he saw only women about the place and attempted to steal the milk from the milk house to assuage his thirst. Mrs. Burleigh and her sister, Mrs. Margaret Bailey, who live alone on the ranch, secured their shotguns and pointed them at the desperado. Billy Boy fled.

The news of the assassin's whereabouts spread rapidly, and jaded posses were spurred to renewed efforts to carry out their promise not to sleep again under roof until Billy Boy sleeps under the sod.

The fact that Billy Boy was forced yesterday to make a raid on Mrs. Burleigh's ranch shows that the round-up of the desert Indians has been effective. All the desert Indians were herded together by the posses to prevent them carrying further aid to the desperado.

RESIGNATION IS ACCEPTED

Taft Voices Regret That Such Are Circumstances

AS TO RENDER IT NECESSARY

Crane Says That He Is Greatly Relieved.

There Has Not Been a Moment Since He Learned of the Attitude of the Department of State That He Has Not Contemplated the Possibility of a Continuance of His Relations Without the Deepest Repugnance.

Washington, Oct 14.—In a telegram received at the White House today President Taft formally accepts the resignation of Charles R. Crane, of Chicago, as minister to China.

The telegram was addressed Secretary Carpenter, and dated Prescott, Arizona. It follows:

"Convey to Mr. Crane following communication: 'I concur in the letter under date of October 12, which the secretary of state addressed to you, and I greatly regret that the circumstances found to exist by him make it necessary for me to accept your resignation'

"TAFT."

Upon receiving the president's communication, Crane dictated the following statement:

Comment of Crane.

"I am greatly relieved by the president's decision. There has been no minute since I learned the attitude of the department of state when I have not contemplated the possibility of a continuance of my official relations with the deepest repugnance. Nevertheless, I have felt that my obligation to the president was to permit him to decide the issue. I have appreciated fully what would be involved in a decision by him that I should continue. I have realized also the impossibility of his securing complete information at this time. He has chosen to base his decision upon the 'circumstances found by the secretary of state.'

Accepts Mission.

"I accepted the Chinese mission at his request and solely because of assurance that I could be and would be permitted to be of service to the country in constructive work of the greatest importance to it and of the greatest interest to me. It has been made perfectly clear that conditions here were not such as to make this possible. To demonstrate this has involved a personal humiliation such as no self-respecting man who is drafted into public service should be called on to endure, but I am grateful indeed that I have had the test of official confidence and support here rather than in China and now rather than at some real crisis involving the honor or the interest of the nation.

Accepts Responsibility.

"I think I should state at this time that till I arrived here last Sunday I had never seen the newspaper article which is made the excuse for my recall, nor had I heard that such an article had been published and at my interview with the secretary of state it was not shown to me. I accepted the description of its character and consequences then given to me and assumed full responsibility for my connection with it, purely incidental as that connection was."

Crane left Washington this afternoon presumably for Chicago, although he declied to state his destination. He also refused to say whether or not he believed the real reason for his dismissal was an objection by Japan to his appointment.

Reasons Inadequate.

Diplomats and politicians alike are agreed that the reasons assigned by Knox are inadequate. As for Crane's speech before the American Asiatic society, it is not established that Knox personally congratulated him upon it over the long distance telephone Yet on last Sunday night when the two men met, Knox severely criticised that same speech. Something had happened in the meantime to make him take so contrary a view of Crane's remarks and it is now thought that that something was a hint from Japan and that it did not like the idea of Crane's being sent to China to represent the United States.

BIG WHALEBACK GOES ASHORE

In the Heavy Weather Which Prevails Wednesday Night.

Duluth, Minn., Oct. 14.—The big whaleback steamer, Trevor, of the Pittsburg Steamship company, which went ashore at Rainbow Cove, western end of Isle Royale, has not been taken off, according to advices today. She went on in the snowstorms and heavy weather that prevailed last night, and the news was brought in by the steamer, Curry. The Trevor is loaded with coal for two harbors and she is hard aground. The Curry, which pulled on her, was unable to budge her and parted a heavy cable.

The boat is not leaking and she is in no danger unless heavy weather should develop. The wrecking barge, Favorite, has been ordered to the Trevor from the Soo. The Trevor is out twelve inches forward.

Jewelry Store Robbed.

Lancaster, O., Oct. 14.—Robbers effected an entrance through a rear window of H R. Borrne's jewelry store last night and carried off about $1,500 worth of goods. A megaphone left behind is the only clew.

ANTICIPATED SPLIT COMES

One Hundred Delegates Walk Out of Convention

OF FEDERATION OF LABOR THURSDAY

When "Outlawed" Electrical Workers Are Seated.

The "Outlaws" Are Given Their Seats by a Vote of 194 to 156. Bolt Is Led by Representative of Bottle Blowers' Union and Organizer Grant Hamilton of the American Federation of Labor.

Toledo, O., Oct. 14.—The anticipated split in the Ohio Federation of Labor came at noon Thursday when one hundred delegates walked out of the hall after the "outlawed" electrical workers and delegates from suspended central bodies had been seated by a vote of 194 to 156.

The bolters immediately set up headquarters at the Wayne hotel, and will call another convention this afternoon. The bolters represent about sixty unions and central bodies.

Immediately following the bolt the regular convention adjourned for dinner.

President Lewis said:

Statement of Lewis.

"The Ohio Federation of Labor intends to live up to the laws of the American Federation of Labor and is doing it now. This break comes simply upon the question of opinion and the interpretation of the law. This convention has recognized the rights of the electrical workers and suspended centrals to a voice and vote in this convention. This is according to the American Federation of Labor constitution.

"Whatever others may do, this convention will proceed with its regular order of business."

The bolt was led by Delegate Voll of the Bottle Blowers' union, Zanesville, and Grant Hamilton, organizer of the American Federation of Labor. Hamilton has not yet declared the charter of the Ohio Federation of Labor revoked, but it is understood that he has a new charter for the bolters and that a new organization will be started at once.

LIEUTENANT CARL RICHTER IS DEAD

Senior Engineer of the Marietta Commits Suicide.

Washington, Oct. 14.—The suicide of Lieutenant Carl Richter, by hanging, was reported to the navy department, today, from Hampton Roads, where he had been serving on the Marietta as senior engineer. The particulars were not given. He entered the service from Dubuque, Iowa.

Returning To Ohio.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 14.—Declaring that he had committed no offense for which he could be prosecuted criminally, Nolan L. Gartner, cashier of the defunct Scioto Valley bank, Kingston, Ohio, arrested yesterday, at Vinita, Oklahoma, on two indictments, was brought to Kansas City, today, and turned over to Sheriff Swope, of Ross county, Ohio. Sheriff Swope left with his prisoner for Ohio today.

PEARY OFFERS HIS EVIDENCE

To Prove That Cook Did Not Reach Pole.

WITNESSES QUOTED ARE ESKIMO BOYS

Natives Laugh at the Claims of Dr. Cook.

They Point Out What They Claim Are the Limits of the Doctor's Journey on a Carefully-Prepared Map—Doctor Not Out of Sight of Land Ice at Any Time During the Entire Journey.

New York, October 12.—The following statement of Commander Robert E. Peary, which he submitted, together with the accompanying map, to the Peary Arctic Club in support of his contention that Dr. Cook did not reach the North Pole, is now made public for the first time. The statement and map have been copyrighted by the Peary Arctic Club:

(Entered according to Act of congress, in the year 1909, by the Peary Arctic Club, in the office of the Librarian of Congress, at Washington, D. C.)

INTRODUCTION BY PEARY.

Some of my reasons for saying that Dr. Cook did not go to the North Pole will be understood by those who read the following statements of the two Eskimo boys who went with him, and who told me and others of my party where he did go. Several Eskimos who started with Dr. Cook from Anoratok in February, 1908, were at Etah when I arrived there in August, 1908. They told me that Dr. Cook had with him, after they left, two Eskimo boys or young men, two sledges and some twenty dogs. The boys were I-took-a-shoo and Ah-pe-lah. I had known them from their childhood. One was about eighteen and the other about nineteen years of age.

On my return from Cape Sheridan and at the very first settlement I touched (Nerke, near Cape Chalon) in August, 1909, and nine days before reaching Etah, the Eskimos told me, in a general way, where Dr. Cook had been; that he had wintered in Jones Sound and that he had told the white men at Etah that he had been a long way north, but that the boys who were with him, I-took-a-shoo and Ah-pe-lah, said that this was not so. The Eskimos laughed at Dr. Cook's story. On reaching Etah, I talked with the Eskimos there and with the two boys and asked them to describe Dr. Cook's journey to members of my party and myself. This they did in the manner stated below.

(Signed) R. E. PEARY.

SIGNED STATEMENT OF PEARY, BARTLETT, McMILLAN, BORUP AND HENSON, IN REGARD TO TESTIMONY OF COOK'S TWO ESKIMO BOYS.

The two Eskimo boys, I-took-a-shoo and Ah-pe-lah, who accompanied Dr. Cook while he was away from Anoratok in 1908 and 1909, were questioned separately and independently, and were corroborated by Panikpah, the father of one of them (I-took-a-shoo), who was personally familiar with the first third and the last third of their journey, and who said that the route for the remaining third, as shown by them, was as described to him by his son after his return with Dr. Cook.

Notes of their statements were taken by several of us, and no one of us has any doubt that they told the truth.

Their testimony was unshaken by cross-examination, was corroborated by other men in the tribe, and was elicited neither by threats nor promises, the two boys and their father talking of their journey and their experiences in the same way that they would talk of any hunting trip.

To go more into details: One of the boys was called in, and, with a chart on the table before him, was asked to show where he had gone with Dr. Cook. This he did, pointing out with his finger on the map, but not making any marks upon it.

As he went out, the other boy came in and was asked to show where he had gone with Dr. Cook. This he did, also without making any marks, and indicated the same route and the same details as did the first boy.

When he was through, Panikpah, the father of I-took-a-shoo, a very intelligent man, who was in the party of Eskimos that came back from Dr. Cook from the northern end of Nansen's Strait, who is familiar as a hunter with the Jones Sound region, and who has been in Commander Peary's various expeditions for some fifteen years, came in and indicated the same

TERRIBLE EXPERIENCE OF HENRY E. CRAIG

Man Is Crushed by Cars and Lies Out All Night.

HE DIES IN A HOSPITAL EARLY THURSDAY

Man Lies Beside Tracks from 8 O'Clock Wednesday Evening Until 6 O'Clock Next Morning—Is Discovered by Erie Trainmen and Brought to the City Quickly.

Henry E Craig, aged about forty years, of Rushsylvania, is a corpse at the Hess & Markert morgue as the result of an accident sustained on the railroad about 8 o'clock Wednesday night. The victim of the accident was a cement worker, unmarried. His mother, Mrs. Mary L. Craig, resides at Rushsylvania.

Craig must have suffered untold agony, having laid near the scene of the accident from the time it occurred until 6 o'clock Thursday morning, when he was found beside the tracks of the Erie railroad about a mile and a half west of the yard limit by G. Show, the conductor of an Erie freight which was just pulling into the city from the west. The conductor of the train picked the injured man up and brought him to the Kenton avenue crossing. Hess & Markert's ambulance conveyed him to the Central Emergency hospital where Drs. James W. McMurray and H. S. Rhu were called to attend him.

Craig was conscious from the time the accident occurred until a short time previous to his death about 9:30 o'clock Thursday morning. To the attendants at the hospital, he stated that he had missed the train he intended taking for home and boarded the freight about 8 o'clock. He was on the top of a box car and fell between the cars. His right leg was horribly crushed from half way between the knee and thigh to the foot, while the bone was shattered to the thigh. He also sustained a dislocation of the right shoulder, a dislocation and fracture of the right elbow and a slight scalp wound.

As soon as the victim reached the hospital he was placed on the operating table and every effort was made to save his life. Although conscious he was suffering greatly from the loss of blood, exposure through the night and the shock. The surgeons in attendance found that it would be necessary to amputate the leg to save the man's life, the wheels of the train having ground it to a pulp. Before the amputation of the leg was complete, Craig died, being unable to stand the shock.

The victim of the accident showed great fortitude and made a hard fight for his life. After the accident he drew himself out of danger of being hit by other trains by pulling himself from the tracks to a grass plot where he laid in a drizzling rain and cold during the night, unable to attract the attention of any trainman by his cries. Craig stated that he was not a drinking man and there was no indication that he had been drinking previous to the fatal accident. In his clothing was found a few old coins, a quarter and some keys while he carried a gold-filled watch.

The remains were removed to the morgue where they were prepared for burial and the mother of the victim was notified.

MRS. CAROLINE KERR IS BADLY INJURED

An Aged Woman Is Kicked by a Cow at Martel.

Little Hope Is Entertained for Her Recovery—Mrs. Andrew Ault Is Dangerously Ill of Typhoid Fever. Mrs. Homer Stone, of Delaware, Is Guest of Relatives in Village.

Martel, Oct. 14.—[Special.]—Mrs. Caroline Kerr, aged seventy-nine years, met with quite a serious accident at the home of her sister, Mrs. Alex Cochran, south of town, Saturday evening. She was engaged in milking, when the cow became frightened and kicked her. As a result she is suffering of a fracture of the left thigh bone at the hip joint. Dr. Jackson, of Edison, was summoned and rendered the proper attention. On account of her age, there is but little hope for her recovery.

The Home society program was opened with a piano selection by Marguerite Krause. Mrs. Carrol C. May read the report of the treasurer in the absence of Mrs. W. C. Butcher. Mrs. Jonas Concklin read the secretary's report, after which Mrs. C. C. Stoltz, the leader, took charge of the meeting. She gave a talk on "The Evils of Polygamy," the subject of the program being "Mormonism."

Mrs. G. M. Rourke, who recently visited Salt Lake City, was asked to give her views of Mormonism as she observed it in Salt Lake City and she made a most interesting talk.

"The Spread of Mormonism" was the title of a splendid paper read by Mrs. Robert Boyd. Mrs. Edward Munnell read an equally interesting paper on "The Process of the Molding of Mormonism."

Miss Ruth Hummer, the president, read a few extracts from a letter from a friend in India and the program closed with the singing of "I Am Happy in Him."

Two new names were added to the roll.

THE LADS ARE GIVEN CHANCE TO BE GOOD

Walter Nece and Wilbur Dains in Probate Court.

COURT DOES NOT BELIEVE STORY TOLD

Claim They Find Bottle of Whisky and Are Intoxicated When They Take a Horse and Buggy—Lads Are Given a Suspended Sentence To Reform Farm at Lancaster.

Walter Nece and Wilbur Dains, thirteen and fourteen years old, arrested on a formal charge of stealing a horse and buggy, the property of William C. Wooley, told a remarkable story when arraigned in the juvenile court, Thursday morning.

Both lads claimed that they had found a pint bottle more than half filled with whisky along the railroads near the plant of the Marion Ice & Cold Storage company, last Sunday morning, and drank it. After that the boys claimed they hardly knew what they were doing, but started up town when they saw Wooley's rig tied in the vicinity of the Auto Inn on north Prospect street. They took it for fun, they said.

Judge W. S Spencer did not believe their story, but no amount of persuasion could make them change it. Both cried and begged not to be sent to the boys' industrial school at Lancaster. Judge Spencer sentenced them to that institution, but suspended the sentence pending their good behavior and laid down the following rules for them to follow:

Attend school and obey their parents; smoke no cigarets or loaf around any moving picture shows, around the railroads or in the streets go to Sunday-school regularly, and report to the juvenile court every Saturday.

The youths were given plainly to understand that if they violated any rules they would be sent forthwith to the boys' industrial home. They were accompanied by their parents, Chief Probationer S. N. Titus and Truant Officer P. S. Wilson.

CRANE TALKS TO THE PRESS

Hence His Resignation as Minister to China

HIS USEFULNESS HELD AT AN END

By the Premier of the State Department

Mr Knox Says He Reluctantly Reached the Conclusion That the Good of the Service Demanded That He Should Inform Mr Crane That His Resignation Would be Accepted—Knox Informs Taft

Washington, Oct 12 —The state department this afternoon announced the resignation [illegible] of Chicago as minister to China

In a formal statement to the press Secretary Knox says

I have reluctantly reached the conclusion that the good of the service demands that I should inform Mr Crane that his resignation will be accepted and I have done so

Secretary Knox has sent a despatch to President Taft announcing his decision

The reasons for the action of the department are the newspaper stories printed concerning affairs of the Orient The secretary says of this in his announcement

Statement of Knox

The department of state has been engaged for some time in making a study of the recent agreement between China and Japan in relation to Manchuria from such data bearing upon the situation as it was able to secure with a view of determining whether there is anything in the agreement adversely affecting American interests or in conflict with the principal of equal opportunity to which the powers are pledged A study has not yet been concluded and in respect to which no decision has been reached

While this investigation was proceeding Mr Crane the minister to China came to the department and while there was informed by one of the clerks that such an examination was being made Without consultation with the acting secretary or any other responsible officer of the department and without the knowledge or authority of any one connected with the department Mr Crane gave out a newspaper story to the effect that this government was preparing to protest against some of the features of the agreement and that the promulgation of the protest only awaited the return of an official who was to promulgate it

The story appeared in a western newspaper and at the same time or a day later in the Japanese press It subsequently was generally published Such were the representations made to me October 4 by the responsible officers of the state department accompanied by their statements that they had sufficient reasons to believe them to be true I thereupon sent Mr Crane at San Francisco the following telegram dated October [illegible] 1909

Message to Crane

You have been charged with the responsibility for the canard recently appearing in the Japanese and American press to the effect that the United States is preparing to protest against the Chinese Japanese agreement The evidence that you are responsible for this is of such a character as warrants me in directing you to come to Washington and meet it If you are not responsible as I hope you are not matters relating to Oriental affairs *have developed since you left Wash*ington that make it advisable for me to communicate with you personally and in the utmost confidence in relation thereto

At a conference with Mr Crane Sunday evening he admitted having an indiscreet talk with a reporter which resulted in the publication referred to and assuming responsibility stated that if the indiscretion were grave enough to shake my confidence in his usefulness he would willingly resign I have reluctantly reached the conclusion that the good of the service demands that I should inform Mr Crane that his resignation will be accepted and I have done so

PENNSYLVANIA LICENSE PLAN

Will Be Urged on the General Assembly

AT ITS SESSION NEXT WINTER

Fight Against County Local Option at Same Time

Secretary of the Commercial Protective League Outlines the Plans of the Liquor Forces—Do Not Want Agricultural Communities To Decide Whether a City or Village in County Shall Be Wet or Dry

Cleveland O Oct 11 —A liquor license law drafted on the plan governing the traffic in the state of Pennsylvania will be urged for passage by the Ohio legislature next winter according to Thomas W Roberts secretary of the Commercial Protective League This will be half the fight to be waged by the liquor interests for a more definite and conservative regulation of the traffic in Ohio

A fight against the county option law will be waged at the same time in the hope that conditions that once prevailed will be restored

The first thing to be done said *Roberts is to restore to our peo*ple the liberty that was taken from them by the enactment of the county option law We shall ask that cities and villages be given the authority to decide for themselves whether they want saloons Under the iniquitous Rose law the question is decided for them by the agricul*tural vote* We want each city village ward precinct or township to make its own decision

The liquor question will not be settled right until we have a comprehensive license system that will include regulation of the number of saloons and the character of men in charge of them Cleveland with a population of 600,000 has 2,000 saloons Half that number would be plenty Philadelphia with [illegible] times our population has [illegible] saloons

THE TATTLE-TALE.

She Got a Chance to Turn the Title on Her Accuser.

By TEMPLE BAILEY

[Copyright, 1[illegible], by Associated Literary Press.]

Patricia and the professor were the last to leave the breakfast table.

"So Mary Morris and Williston are engaged," the professor remarked. "Everybody is talking about it."

Patricia looked up at him startled. "Why, it's a secret."

The professor shrugged his shoulders. "Nothing is a secret when it is once told, and the news came from our landlady."

"Mrs. Murdoch? Why, I told Mrs. Murdoch," Patricia confessed. "She asked me such direct questions that I couldn't easily evade, but I never dreamed she would tell."

"And Mary Morris never dreamed that you would tell," the professor remarked. "That's the way all gossip begins."

"I think," said Patricia, flaming, "that you are very unpleasant to call it gossip."

"Do you know the name we have for little girls who tell too much?" he asked her gravely.

She shook her head.

"Tattletale," he told her.

"Oh," she flung out, "how rude you are." Then her lip quivered. "You are horrid to make me so uncomfortable."

When Patricia's lip quivered it was time for a mere man to lay down his weapons, and the professor was beginning hurriedly, "I didn't mean—" when Mary Morris appeared at the door.

"Oh, Patricia," she reproached, "did you tell Mrs. Murdoch?"

"Yes," Patricia admitted, "I did, but I didn't think she would repeat it, Mary."

"And I didn't think you would," Mary condemned. "I thought you could keep a secret, Patricia."

"Oh, Mary—" Patricia's tone was distressed.

"I thought I could trust you, Patricia." And away she went, and Patricia delivered a passionate opinion to the professor.

"Nobody seems to think that I should have had to have to evade Mrs. Murdoch's questions. She just wormed it out of me, and I can't evade like some people."

TATTLE-TALE! SHE TEASED AND RAN FROM HIM LAUGHING

The professor rose and came around to her. "You know I wouldn't hurt you for the world."

"But you have hurt me," Patricia sobbed, "and I wish you'd go away. I don't want to speak to you any more—to you or to Mary Morris or—anybody."

Then she fled from the dining room, and the professor had to take his punishment, for Patricia refused to make up. She did not stay for the after breakfast chat that had become so much to the professor. And after dinner she shut herself in her room and would not be coaxed down to sing the Irish melodies that had been the delight of the boarders.

"It's too bad," the professor said in a worried way to Mary Morris.

"Yes," Mary agreed, "but I can't do anything with her. I went to her with tears in my eyes and begged pardon, but she said that you and I were just alike, that we had judged her—and she would abide by our judgment."

"Poor little kid," said the professor tenderly.

He didn't like to say how much he missed her, the little friend whom he had come to know in the big boarding house.

On Saturday he sent her some flowers—pansies tied with pale purple ribbon, with a little card, "For thoughts." And Patricia had sent him a perfunctory little note of thanks and had not worn the pansies. How could he know that she had slept with them against her cheek and had pressed two purple ones in her Testament?

It was all very unpleasant and unhappy, and it might have lasted longer if it had not been for Mrs. Murdoch.

The big landlady told one day a bit of scandal. It related to the husband of a meek little woman who always appeared at the breakfast table in a red tea gown.

Mrs. Murdoch, having breathed her precious bit of news into the ears of a half dozen spinsters, rejoiced in the furor of exciting comment. And excitement lent to her cheeks when she came in to the Sunday dinner a redness that was increased by the warmth of the day.

This Sunday meal was a dinner to conjure with. The boarders ate and praised, and Mrs. Murdoch was just leaning back in her chair when the husband of the lady who wore the red tea gown burst upon the scene.

He went straight up to Mrs. Murdoch and thundered: "What have you been saying about me to my wife?"

Mrs. Murdoch turned pale. Never before had her sins of gossip been brought home to her. "Nothing," she stammered.

"You have told enough to make her unhappy, to make her accuse me—me. What right had you?"

Mrs. Murdoch took refuge in the excuse of the weak. "Well, I was told—"

"Who told you?" His black eyes swept the board.

The eyes of the six spinsters met his serenely. Not from them had come the first telling of the tale.

But Patricia flushed, as the innocent will at times with the memory of former sins upon them. The flush caught Mrs. Murdoch's desperate eye.

"It seems to me that I heard it from Miss Patricia," she murmured.

"Oh!" Patricia gasped, but before she could say more the professor was on his feet.

"I think you must take that back, Mrs. Murdoch." His voice was stern. "Miss Patricia is incapable of such a thing. I think every one here will agree to that."

"Well," Mrs. Murdoch evaded, "you know she told me about Mary Morris' engagement."

"Because you wormed it out of her, and she was too truthful to be able to evade"—the professor's tones cut like steel—"and I am sure that if this gentleman will investigate the stories he has heard he will find that your source of information was outside of the house, but that within the tale has been spread by you and you alone.

"And now," he proceeded, "I would suggest that you apologize to Miss Patricia at once or I shall feel compelled to give you notice, and I am sure that others will follow. One cannot afford to live where one is likely to be held up in this way."

Mrs. Murdoch's eyes glanced warily about the table, saw that popular opinion was with the professor and surrendered.

"Oh, of course," she said. "I was mistaken. It wasn't Miss Patricia."

"Thank you," the professor said gravely, "and now, as we have only our coffee to forego, I would suggest that your boarders withdraw while you satisfy this gentleman as to the source of your information."

He stalked out at the head of a long line consisting of Mary Morris and Williston and the six spinsters and at the very end Patricia.

When they reached the hall there was a little hubbub of comment and of laughter, under cover of which the professor said to Patricia, "I'd have knocked her down if she had been a man."

Patricia's eyes were shining. "Oh," she said, "how good you were to defend me before all those people."

"It wasn't entirely unselfish," the professor admitted. "I hoped I might win forgiveness."

And Patricia accorded it, and they went for a walk together in the beauty of the autumn twilight, and when they came back they were engaged.

"I am going to tell everybody," the professor declared.

Patricia's eyes flashed their delight, but her lips were mutinous.

"Tattletale!" she teased and ran from him laughing to the shelter of her room.

On Keeping a Diary

Everybody has heard of Mark Twain's caricature of a diary: "Got up, washed and went to bed," and to some people that thing covers the sum and substance of diaries. They do not keep any. Much, however, may be said for the diary. It might sometimes come handy to know where you were and what you were doing on a certain day, though there may be a difference of opinion about the advantage of such knowledge generally. However, we think any well intentioned life can stand a record of its daily doings, and, whether of value or not, such a record becomes increasingly interesting with advancing years. A man of our acquaintance, a young lawyer, was asked, "If you don't keep a diary how do you know what you were doing last year?" He answered, "I don't want to know what I was doing last year." What this worthy young lawyer said facetiously may be felt by some seriously. There are lots of days that people would be glad to forget, and diaries of course make us remember. Here's a good rule for young lawyers, facetious and other wise, and also for all kinds and conditions of men in Newark and everywhere else:

Don't do anything you can't write up in a diary.—Newark News.

Cruel

The would be prima donna jarred the air with nervous emotion. "Julian," she suddenly demanded, "what opera do you think would do justice to my voice?"

And Julian, the manager, tugged at his black cigar and responded sardonically:

"Ah, madam, it would be a pleasure to hear you in the great anvil chorus. Your voice would make the blacksmith scene perfect."

"And the connection between my voice and a blacksmith scene?"

"The heavy rasp in it, madam—the heavy rasp."

And then Julian escaped from the greenroom just in time to dodge a gilded chair.—Chicago News.

GEORGE GOULD'S DAUGHTER, WHOSE BEAU IS COUSIN OF THE CZAR

MISS MARJORIE GOULD

Following a dinner given on board George Gould's yacht Atlanta to a party of close friends and their guests it was reported that Miss Marjorie Gould had admitted to some of the guests that she had a beau in no less a personage than a Russian grand duke, a cousin of the Czar. Those of the party who related the story afterward could not remember the almost unpronounceable name of the pretty heiress' titled admirer, but they agreed that Miss Gould blushingly displayed more than passing interest in the young man whose picture she showed to her mother's guests. Miss Gould's coming out ball at the Plaza hotel, New York, more than a year ago was a costly and elaborate affair, and not a few titled Europeans were present. However, there was no Russian duke among the guests, and society is anxious to know just who Miss Gould's royal suitor is.

SNOW COMES AS A CLIMAX TO STORM

It Snows Hard About 10 O'Clock Tuesday Morning

As a climax to a cold snap and a bit of gloomy disagreeable weather it snowed at [illegible] o'clock Tuesday morning and for a short time snowed hard. Even the late risers were able to see some traces of the snowstorm Tuesday as they ventured some time after the sun had crept above the horizon, the thermometer registering thirty two degrees or freezing at 7 o'clock.

During Monday afternoon the thermometer registered fifty eight degrees above zero and in the evening dropped to forty three. After 9 o'clock the mercury crept steadily down until it reached the freezing point and then came the snow.

Last year the first snow was recorded November 10 and it was very light. The temperature however was much lower.

Harry Kender left Monday for Canton to accept the management of a large new restaurant.

Some family skeletons are padded beyond recognition.

THE DEDICATION OF A BEAUTIFUL TEMPLE

Services Held in Memorial Church at Caledonia

THE SERVICES ARE VERY IMPRESSIVE

Mrs Anna M Harkness Erects Memorial to Her Mother Mrs Anna M Underwood—A Description of the New Place of Worship of the Caledonia M E Congregation

Caledonia O Oct 11 [Special] The dedication of the new Memorial Methodist Episcopal church was conducted with impressive ceremonies Sunday forenoon.

The church was erected by Mrs Stephen V Harkness of New York City in memory of her mother Mrs Ann Maria Underwood who was a life long resident of this place. The edifice is not only the most durable but one of the most expensive in this section of the state. It is of the [illegible] Gothic style and was fashioned after the old Norman churches which were erected in the fifteenth century. It is built almost entirely of stone, the body being of Glenmont stone with buff Amherst trimmings. Only the very best of workmanship was used in its structure and this with the highest grade of materials and highest type of accessories make it an edifice of which any community may be proud. It is estimated that the church cost $1[illegible] but Mrs Harkness has not made public the amount.

The entire structure measures forty two by one hundred and twenty five feet with a tower seventy five feet high. From the front vestibule a spiral staircase of stone leads to the dome. The main auditorium is fifty by sixty feet and with the Sunday school room has a seating capacity of about [illegible]00. The Sunday school [illegible] in the [illegible] of the main auditorium. The memorial window is located at the west end and is an [illegible] of exceeding beauty. Services Sunday

About [illegible] people assembled at [illegible] Sunday morning to take part in the dedication of the beautiful temple. [illegible] Mr [illegible] of Galion rendered an organ prelude. Mr Monroe proved herself a [illegible] of great ability and was much admired by her auditors. A hymn by the congregation was followed by the [illegible] invocation. Rev S [illegible] Idleman offered prayer after which the [illegible] quartet of Mansfield sang Nearer My God to Thee. The responsive reading of a psalm was led by Rev [illegible] and was followed by the Gloria by the choir and congregation.

Rev E [illegible] Stevenson read the scripture lesson for the day. The offertory by the organist preceded a solo by Miss Ethel Kinnear of Galion. The singer charmed the audience with her sweet voice and soulful expression.

SQUIRREL HUNTERS HAVING GOOD TIME

Game Well Protected Is Now on the Increase

The squirrel hunters of the county [illegible] having some very good sport this month as the animals are quite plentiful in some sections. For the past few years farmers have been very careful as to who have been allowed to hunt on their lands and the game laws so far as hunting is concerned have been fairly well enforced. As the result there is a corresponding increase in small game of all classes. There are more quail in the county than at any time in the past twenty years and travelers through the country can hear them [illegible] on every hand.

SHOOTS HIS MOTHER THROUGH THE LEG

John Cramer Handles a Revolver Carelessly

John Cramer residing at No [illegible] Owen street accidentally shot his mother Mrs Clarissa Cramer through the calf of her right leg while fooling with a thirty two caliber revolver Tuesday. The bullet passed through the fleshy part of the leg and lodged in the opposite side of the room.

Dr E E Brady was called and dressed the wound.

BREEDING EWES

Wonderful Opportunity To Acquire Superior Strains at Low Prices

Mr George M Walber of Marysville Ohio has on hand and for sale from [illegible]000 to [illegible]000 breeding ewes both native and western bred which he offers [illegible] at prices which are about twice the value of the wool which will be shorn from them next spring. The natives are nearly all Delaine of good ages while the western are [illegible] of exceptionally large size and young. Mr Walber says he is offering the cheapest western ewes in Ohio at about present asking prices on the range and the natives proportionately low. [illegible]

Is Good Natured

Relatives of George Curless who is now residing at [illegible] Michigan received a letter from him Tuesday in which he expresses great pleasure over a verdict rendered in the matter of the State of Ohio against George Hammer who was charged with the killing of Roy Calhoun. Curless states that he bunked with Hammer thirty months in the army service in the Philippines and found him so good natured that he never knew him to grow angry about anything.

TWO YOUTHS ARE IN SERIOUS TROUBLE

They Attempt To Steal Horse and Buggy

THE SHERIFF BEATS LADS TO KENTON

Is Waiting with Owner of Rig and Deputies When the Youngsters Drive into Town—One of the Lads Escapes—The Other Is Brought Here and Placed in Jail

When Wilbur Dains and Walter Neer each fourteen years old were seen taking the rig of William C Wooley near the Auto Inn on south Prospect street Sunday morning between 10 and 11 o'clock and drive west with it Sheriff John G Stark was notified.

Securing an auto the sheriff took Wooley and Deputy Sheriff Cornelius Breen and dashed westward. The lads were traced toward Kenton twenty six miles distant but the sheriff beat them there an hour and awaited their arrival. The boys had taken a roundabout route while the automobile party driven by Zepher E Drake went on a straight road through Hepburn.

As the youngsters drove up into Kenton Neer saw Wooley and recognizing him jumped from the buggy. A third boy who lives in Kenton and who had joined the Marion boys at the outskirts of town also jumped and escaped with Neer. Dains however did not try to get away. He was too frightened and was returned here on a charge of horsestealing Monday morning at 1 o'clock and placed in jail. He will be taken before Judge W S Spencer in the juvenile court.

On the way to Kenton the sheriff and his party were delayed a short time by the machine going wrong. On the return trip the auto broke down six times and finally the party had to walk into Marion a distance of one and one half miles.

Wilbur Dains is a son of W Scott Dains a teamster residing on Uhler avenue and the Neer boy is a son of Henry Neer who lives on Oil street.

The Dains youth told Sheriff Stark that the Neer boy had taken the rig to go to Kenton to collect a bill of two dollars and that he had merely accompanied him.

Wilbur Dains fourteen years old was arraigned [illegible] P Gompf Monday afternoon on a charge of horse stealing preferred by William C Wooley. Justice Gompf immediately turned the lad over to the juvenile court where he will be arraigned next Thursday morning. His hearing was [illegible] with a view to getting and arresting Walter Neer Dains' companion who escaped at Kenton when the lads were overtaken by Sheriff John G Stark and his party in an automobile. Meanwhile the boy is in jail.

In the justice's court young Dains told a straightforward story. He said that Neer told him that the rig belonged to his father and asked him to go along with him to Kenton to collect two dollars. "I didn't know the rig didn't belong to Wal[illegible]" the youth said.

ESCAPE THEIR FRIENDS AND MUCH ANNOYANCE

Miss Miller and Mr C H Elliott Are Married

DROP OUT OF CITY AND QUIETLY MARRY

Place of Marriage Is Not Announced but Assurance Is Given That the Marriage Has Been Celebrated The Bride and Groom Very Popular in the City

To escape the tomfoolery planned for them by his friends and associates Charles H Elliott secretary of the Marion Ice & Cold Storage company obtained a license by proxy to wed Miss Grace P Miller Thursday afternoon and is now a happy married man. He's married but where was he married? Not even his mother Mrs Martha Keller or [illegible] relatives know.

Ex-Probate Judge C H Foster a member of the well known [illegible] society of which the groom is a member secured the license and handed it to Mr Elliott at the [illegible] station where the Cupid tipped bachelor bought a ticket for [illegible].

The bride who lives in the north part of the city [illegible] boarded the [illegible] a short distance south of [illegible] street. It was [illegible] they just stole away before the bridegroom's friends [illegible] enthusiastic demonstration.

"I knew he was going to be married some time this fall but I didn't know just when" said Mrs Keller the groom's mother last Friday. "The other day he said he was going to be married this week. I don't know where he was married. He [illegible] was going to Bucyrus and then [illegible] the [illegible] C O C train either to Tiffin or to Fostoria. He didn't know which and be married. He didn't have time to get married in Fostoria while the train was there for he only had half an hour to make connection."

Few bachelors in Marion are more popular than Mr Elliott and his capitulation to the little god who sways the human heart with the [illegible] tied [illegible] will come as a big surprise to many.

The bride a bookkeeper employed by the Bradley Grocery company is possessed of a charming personality and her friends are legion. Only a few were let in to the secret.

Postcards from Mr Elliott bearing the Fostoria postmark were received here October 8.

FORECLOSURE IS NOW ALMOST CERTAINTY

Situation of the C D & M Company at Present

Several conferences of representatives of the holders of the consolidated mortgage five per cent bonds of the Columbus Delaware & Marion Railway company have been held and it has practically been decided to begin foreclosure proceedings under the mortgage. The authorized issue of these bonds is $[illegible]00,000 of which $1[illegible] are outstanding, the remaining $1[illegible]5,000 being reserved for the retirement of the underlying bonds. It may be that an arrangement may be made which will prevent the bringing of the foreclosure proceedings but local men who have been acting for the bondholders [illegible] say that the proceedings in foreclosure are most probable. The road is now being operated under the charge of a receiver and a committee of stockholders is working for a reorganization which would prevent any action under the terms of the mortgage.—Ohio State Journal

MAN-MADE CHANNEL FOR THE MISSISSIPPI

St Paul Is Crowding the River and Must Grow

THE WORK WILL TAKE A NUMBER OF YEARS

A Commissioner Looks the Ground Over and Decides That the River Must Move—Work Will Require the Cutting of a New Channel and the Filling in of River Bed

St Paul Minn Oct 9—For the first time in history the Mississippi river, Father of Waters, is to be lifted from its immemorial bed and given a new man-made channel in which to flow. The river has suffered alteration of course before but these have been principally through government control works tending to open channels and provide better navigation and in no instance have they removed the river from its ancient bed. The task is one of huge magnitude and will require several years of work but it must be done for St Paul is crowding the river and must move it or cease to grow.

The situation of St Paul is peculiar. Its railway terminals comprising the yardage and central station of ten great lines lie in a valley flanked by high bluffs at right angles to the present course of the river. Land not used for railway purposes is wholly occupied by factories, warehouses, the city's immense wholesale houses and by other commercial purposes. So rapid has been the city's growth that almost before the congestion was anticipated this district has grown too small to hold the business and must expand or the city will suffer the division of its whole wholesale and railway district and the dispersion of many industries to outlying stations. This is bad enough but a more serious problem is offered by the railways themselves. The train movements in and out of the St Paul station are second only to those of Boston. The railways have insufficient room to handle them, but in [illegible] the terminals are insufficient and space must be given at once.

The only solution is to open the river and move it. To this end a commission headed by the city engineer has practically decided upon plans which include the cutting of a new channel and the filling in of the present river bed, the total area of which is equal to [illegible]00 ordinary city blocks [illegible] stretch along on the farther side of the Mississippi and added to the business district in which the congestion is greatest.

The river flows directly through St Paul giving the city sixteen miles of water front. Just below the center of the city it describes a great curve directly across which the new channel will be constructed. The river will be shortened nearly half a mile and [illegible] the present channel again [illegible] and just above South St Paul the packing center. The [illegible] of the new channel will be lined with concrete and on the northern bank near the central portion of the city special slips will be constructed to afford facilities for the future [illegible] and these in turn will be provided with suitable warehouses. With the work completed [illegible] the Mississippi will have better facilities for handling river traffic and a better river harbor or more convenient river wharves than St Paul [illegible] for half a century the head of Mississippi river navigation.

Curiously enough the cost will not be great comparatively. The land through which the new channel will be cut is not expensive and is annually overflowed by high water. The land comprising the present river bed when reclaimed will be enormously valuable, so valuable in fact that no one has yet attempted to put a figure on it. It will add space to the heart of the railway terminals which since they could not be bought are practically beyond price. The engineers believe the land recovered from the Father of Waters will be worth considerably more than the total cost of the whole work of changing the channel. Preliminary estimates place the cost of the new channel with slips and retaining walls at $[illegible]00,000 to which must be added $[illegible]00,000 for bridges.

The Mississippi at St Paul is a third of a mile in width. The new channel will be of less width but of greater depth.

It is believed that plans can be completed in time to commence work in the spring. At the same time St Paul will obtain a new $1,000,000 passenger station which will probably occupy a site in the center of the bed the river now occupies.

absolute control and ease of adaptability to a changing environment must be assured.

It is impossible to adequately control the complex human temperament of unknown men in the polar wilderness, but the two Eskimo boys could be trusted to follow to the limit of my own endeavors, and our sleds were burdened only with absolute necessities.

Cutting Down Weight.

Because of the importance of a light and efficient equipment much care was taken to eliminate every ounce of weight. The sleds were made of hickory, the lightest wood consistent with great endurance, but every needless fiber was gouged out. The iron shoes were ground thin, and in every way the weight of nearly everything was reduced even after leaving headquarters.

The little train, therefore, which followed me into the farther mystery was composed of two sleds, each carrying 600 pounds, drawn by 13 dogs, under the lash of an expert driver. The combined freight was as follows: Pemmican, 805 pounds; musk ox tenderloin, 50 pounds; todnu, 25 pounds; tea, 2 pounds; coffee, 1 pound; sugar, 25 pounds; condensed milk, 40 pounds; milk biscuits, 60 pounds; pea soup, powdered and compressed, 10 pounds; surprises, 5 pounds; petroleum, 40 pounds; wood alcohol, 2 pounds; candles, 3 pounds; matches, 1 pound.

ESKIMO BELLES ON THE JOHN R. BRADLEY.

The Camp Equipment.

The camp equipment included the following articles: One blow fire lamp (Jeuch, 3 aluminium pails, 3 aluminium cups, 3 aluminium teaspoons, 1 tablespoon, 3 tin plates, 6 pocketknives, 2 butcher knives (10 inches), 1 saw knife (13 inches), 1 long knife (15 inches), 1 rifle (Sharpe), 1 rifle (Winchester, 22), 110 cartridges, 1 hatchet, 1 Alpine ax, extra line and lashings, 3 personal bags.

The sled equipment was 2 sleds weighing 52 pounds each, 12 foot folding canvas boat, 34 pounds; 1 silk tent, 2 canvas sled covers, 2 sleeping bags (reindeer skin), floor furs, extra wood for sled repairs, screws, nails and rivets.

The instruments were as follows. Three compasses, 1 sextant, 1 artificial horizon (glass), 1 pedometer, 3 pocket chronometers, 1 watch, charts, map making material and instruments, 3 thermometers, 1 aneroid barometer, 1 camera a. 1 films, notebooks and pencils.

The personal bags contained four extra pairs of kamiks, with fur stockings, a woolen shirt, three pairs of sealskin mittens, two pairs of fur mittens, a piece of blanket, a sealskin coat (netsha), a repair kit for mending clothing and dog harness. tra fox tails.

On the march we wore snow goggles, blue fox coats (kapitahs), birdskin shirts, woolen drawers, bearskin pants, kamiks and hareskin stockings. We fastened a band of fox tails under the knee and about the waist.

Helping the Advance.

On the morning of March 18 preparations were made to divide the party. The advance must be helped over the rough ice of the pack edge, and for this purpose Koolootingwah and Inugito were selected. The other six Eskimos prepared to return. One sled was left with the cache to insure a good vehicle for our return in case the two sleds were badly broken en route.

A half gale was blowing into Nansen sound from the northwest, but this did not interfere with the starting of those home going Eskimos. With abundant game for the return they required little but ammunition to supply their wants.

When the word was given to start, the dogs were gathered and the sleds were spanned with a jump. Soon they disappeared in the rush of driving snow. The crack of the whips and the rebound of cheering voices were the last which we heard of the faithful savage supporters. They had followed not for pay, but for a real desire to be helpful, from the dark days of the ending of night to the bright nights of the coming double days, and their parting enforced a pang of loneliness.

Another Sleep Before the Start.

With a snow charged blast in our faces it was quite impossible for us to start, so we withdrew to the snow igloo, entered our bags and slept a few hours longer. At noon the horizon cleared. The wind veered to the southwest and came with an endurable force. The dogs had been doubly fed the night before. They were not to be fed again for two days. The 1,200 pounds of freight were packed on our sleds, and quickly we slipped around deep grooves in the great poliocrystic floes.

The snow had been swept from the ice by the force of the preceding storms, and the speed attained by the dogs through even rough ice was such that it was difficult to keep far enough ahead to get a good course.

The crevasses and pressure lines gave little trouble at first, but the hard irregularity of the bared ice offered a dangerous surface for the life of our sleds, passing through blue gorges among miniature mountains of sea ice. On a course slightly west of north we soon sank the bold headland which raises the northern point of Heiberg island.

Camp Is Pitched.

After a run of twenty-six miles we pitched camp on a floe berg of unusual height. There were many big hummocks about, to the lee of which were great banks of hardened snow. Away from land it is always more difficult to find snow suitable for cutting building blocks, but here was an abundance conveniently placed. In the course of an hour a comfortable palace of crystal was erected, and into it we crept out of the piercing wind. The first day's march over the circumpolar sea was closed with a good record.

The dogs curled up and went to sleep without a call, as if they knew there would be no food until the morrow. My wild companions covered their faces with their convenient long hair and sank quietly into a comfortable slumber, but for me sleep was quite impossible. Letters must be written. The whole problem of our campaign must be again carefully studied and final plans must be made not only to reach our ultimate destination, but for the returning parties and for the security of the things at Annootok.

Impossible to Foretell Return.

It was difficult at this time to even guess at the probable line of our return to land. Much depended upon conditions encountered in the northward route. Though we had left caches of supplies, with the object of returning along Nansen sound into Cannon fiord and over Arthur Land, I entertained grave doubts of our ability to return this way. If the ice drifted strongly to the east we might not be given the choice of working out our own return. In that event we would be carried perhaps helplessly to Greenland and must seek a return either along the east coast or the west coast.

This drift did not offer a dangerous hardship, for the musk oxen would keep us alive to the west, and to the east it seemed possible to reach Shannon island, where the Baldwin-Ziegler expedition had abandoned a large cache of supplies. It appeared not improbable also that a large land extension might offer a safe return much farther west.

Francke's Instructions.

Because of this uncertainty Francke was instructed to wait until June 5, 1908, and if we did not return he was told to place Koolootingwah in charge and go home either by the whalers or by the Danish ships to the south.

No relief which he could offer would help us, and to wait for an indefinite time alone would have inflicted a needless hardship. This and many other instructions were prepared for Koolootingwah and Inugito to take back.

In the morning the frost in crystals had been swept from the air, but there remained a humid chill which pierced to the bones. The temperature was minus 56 F. A light air came from the west, and the sun burned in a freezing blue.

After a few hours' march the ice changed in character. The extensive thick fields gave place to moderate sized floes. The floes were separated by zones of troublesome crushed ice thrown into high pressure lines, which offered serious barriers, but with the ice ax and Eskimo ingenuity we managed to make fair progress.

The second run on the polar sea was with twenty-one miles to our credit. I had expected to send the supporting party back from here, but progress had not been as good as expected. We could hardly spare the food to feed their dogs, so they volunteered to push along another day without dog food.

Return of the Helpers.

On the next day, with increasing difficulties in some troublesome ice, we camped after making only sixteen miles. Here a small snow house was built, and from here, after disposing of a pot of steaming musk ox loins and broth, followed by a double brew of tea, our last helpers returned.

With empty sleds and hungry dogs they hoped to reach land in one long day's travel. But this would make the fourth day without food for their dogs, and in case of storm or moving ice other days of famine might easily fall to their lot. They had, however, an abundance of dogs and might sacrifice a few for the benefit of the others, as we must often do.

Sixth Article.

KOOLOOTINGWAH and Inugito had been our bedfellows for the entire northward run, and they had gone through many dangerous and hard experiences together. We therefore felt more keenly their departure than the going of the first six. We were at first lonely, but the exigencies of our problem were soon sufficiently engaging to occupy every call and strain every fiber.

Now our party was reduced to three, and, though the isolation was more oppressive, there were the usual advantages for greater comfort and progress of a small family of workers. The increased number of a big expedition always enlarges the responsibility and difficulties. In the early part of a polar venture this disadvantage is eliminated by the survival of the fittest, but after the last supporting sleds return the men are married to each other and can no longer separate. A disabled or unfitted dog can be fed to his companions, but an injured or weak man cannot be put aside. An exploring venture is only as strong as its weakest member, and increased numbers, like increased links in a chain, reduce efficiency.

The personal idiosyncrasies and inconveniences always shorten the day's march; but, above all, a numerous party quickly divides into cliques, which are always opposed to each other, to the leader and to the best interests of the problem in hand. With but two savage companions, to whom this arduous task was but a part of an accustomed life of frost, I hoped to overcome many of the natural personal barriers to the success of arctic expeditions.

One Degree In Three Days.

By dead reckoning our position was latitude 82 degrees 23 minutes, longitude 95 degrees 11 minutes. A study of the ice seemed to indicate that we had passed beyond the zone of ice crushed by the influence of land pressure. Behind were great hummocks and small ice; ahead was a cheerful expanse of larger floes. Using the accumulated vigor of man and beast, we had advanced a degree of latitude in three days. Our destination was about 160 miles beyond.

But our life had assumed quite another aspect. Previously we permitted ourselves some luxuries. A pound of coal oil and a good deal of musk ox tallow were burned each day to heat the igloo and to cook abundant food. Extra meals were served when an occasion called for it, and each man ate and drank all he desired. If the stockings or the mittens were wet there was fire enough to dry them out. But all of this must now be changed.

There was a short daily allowance of food and fuel—one pound of pemmican per day for the dogs, about the same for the men, with just a taste of other things. Fortunately, we were well stuffed for the race with fresh meat in the lucky run through game lands.

At first no great hardship followed the changed routine. We filled up sufficiently on two cold meals and used superfluous bodily tissue. It was no longer possible to jump on the sled for an occasional breathing spell, as we had done along the land. With overloaded sleds the drivers must push and pull at the sleds to aid the dogs, and I searched the troubled ice for an easy route, cutting here and there with the ice ax to permit the passing of the sleds.

Stripped For the Race.

We are finally stripped for the race. Man and dog must walk along together through storms and frost for that elusive pivot. Success or failure depended mostly upon our ability to transport nourishment and to keep up the muscular strength for a prolonged period.

As we awoke on the following morning and peeped out of the eye port the sun was edging along the northeast, throwing a warm orange glow on us that gladdened our hearts. The temperature was 63 degrees below zero F.; the barometer was steady and high. There was almost no wind, and not a cloud lined the dome of pale purple blue.

After two cups of tea, a watch sized biscuit, a chip of frozen meat and a bowlder of pemmican we crept out of the bags. The shivering legs were pushed through bearskin cylinders, which served as trousers; the feet were worked into frozen boots, and then we climbed into fur coats, kicked the front out of the snow house and danced about to start the fires of the heart.

ESKIMO MOTHER AND BABE.

Quickly the camp furnishings were tossed on the sleds and securely lashed down. The dog traces were gathered into the drag lines, and with a vigorous snap of the long whip the willing creatures bent to the shoulder straps. The sleds groaned, and the unyielding snows gave a metallic ring, but the train moved with a cheerful pace.

"Uune noona terronga dosangwah" (good land out of sight today) we said to one another, but the words did not come with serious intent. In truth, each in his own way felt keenly that we were leaving a world of life and possible comfort for one of torment and suffering. Heiberg island was already only a dull blue haze, while Grant Land was making fantastic figures of its peaks and ice walls.

Wave of Mirages.

The stamp of reality had given place to a wave of curious mirages. Some peaks seemed like active volcanoes; others rose to exaggerated heights and pierced the changing skies with multiple spires like church steeples. Altogether this unexpected panorama of the upper surface of Grant Land under the influence of optical illusions gave us considerable entertainment.

At every breathing spell the heads turned to the land, and every look gave a new prospect. From belching volcanoes to smoking cities of modern bustle the mirage gave suggestive bits of scenes, but a more desolate line of coast could not be imagined.

Low wind swept and ice polished mountains were separated by valleys filled with great depths of snow and ice. This interior accumulation moved slowly to the sea, where it formed a low ice fall, a glacier of the malaspina type, but its appearance was more like that of heavy sea ice; hence the name of the fragments from this glacier, floe berg, which, seen in Lincoln sea and resembling old floes, were supposed to be the product of the upbuilding of the ice of the north polar sea.

Late in the afternoon the land suddenly settled as if by an earthquake. The pearly glitter which raised it darkened, and a purple fabric was drawn over the horizon, merging imperceptibly with the lighter purple blue of the upper skies. We saw the land, however, repeatedly for several days whenever the atmosphere was in the right condition to elevate the terrestrial contour lines.

All Conditions Favorable.

Everything was in our favor in this march. The wind was not strong and struck at an angle, making it possible to guard the nose by pushing a mitten under the hood or by raising the fur clad hand. The snow was hard, and the ice, in fairly large floes separated by pressure lines, offered little trouble. At the end of a forced effort of fourteen hours the register indicated twenty nine miles.

Too tired to begin the construction of a house at once, we threw ourselves down on the sledges for a short breathing spell and fell asleep. Awakened about an hour later by a strong wind, we hastened to seek shelter. The heavy floe upon which we rested had several large hummocks, and over to the lee of one of these was found suitable snow for a camp. Lines of snowy vapor were rushing over the pack, and the wind came with a rapidly increasing force.

But the dome was erected before we suffered severely from the blast, and under it we crept out of the coming storms into warm furs.

It blew severely that night, but in the morning the storm eased to a steady draft, with a temperature of 59 degrees below. At noon we emerged. The snow grays had been swept from the frigid dome, but to the north there remained a low black line over a pearly cloud which gave us much uneasiness. It was a narrow belt of water sky and indicated open water or very thin ice at no great distance.

The upper surface of Grant Land was a mere line, but a play of land clouds over it fixed the eyes on the last known rocks of solid earth. In this march we felt keenly the piercing cold of the polar sea. The temperature gradually rose to 46 below in the afternoon, but the chill of the shadows increased with the swing of the sun's glitter.

A Life Sapping Wind.

It still blew that light, life sapping draft which sealed the eyes and bleached the nose. We had hoped that this would soften with the midday sun, but instead it came with a sharper edge. Our course was slightly west of north; the wind was slightly north of west. It struck us at a painful angle and brought tears. The moistened lashes quickly froze together in winking, and we were forced to halt frequently to unseal the eyes with the warmth of the uncovered hand. In the meantime we found the nose tipped with a white skin, and it also required nursing. The entire face was surrounded with ice.

This experience brought warm language, but there was no redress. If we aimed to succeed the face must be bared to the cut of the elements.

At about 6 o'clock, as the sun crossed the west, we had reached a line of high pressure ridges. Beyond the ice was cut into smaller floes and thrown together into ugly irregularities. An active pack and troubled seas could not be far away, according to our surmises. The water sky widened, but became less sharply defined.

We managed to pick a way among hummocks and pressure lines which seemed impossible from a distance, and in a few hours we saw from an unusual uplift of ice blocks a broad, dark line separating the packs—a tremendous cut several miles wide, which seemed at the time to bar all farther progress. We had a folding canvas boat on the sleds, but in a temperature of 48 degrees below zero no craft could be lowered into water without fatal results. All of the ice about was firmly cemented together, and over it a way was forged to the shore of the great lead.

Camp Beside the Lead.

Camp was made on a secure old field, and over its huge ice cliffs the crack seemed like a long river winding between palisades of blue crystal. A thin sheet of yellow ice had already spread over the mysterious deep, and a profusion of fantastic frost crystals were arranged in bunches resembling flowers. Through this young ice dark vapors rose like steam through a screen of porous fabrics and fell in feathers of dust along the sparkling shores. Etukishook went east and I went west to examine the lead for a safe crossing.

There were several narrow places, while here and there floes had been adrift in the lead and were now fixed by the young ice. Ahwelah remained to make our snow house comfortable.

In exploring the shore line a partially bridged place was found about a mile from camp, but the young ice was too elastic for a safe track. The temperature, however, fell rapidly with the setting sun, and the wind was just strong enough to sweep off the heated vapors. A better atmospheric condition could not be afforded to quickly thicken the young ice.

The groaning ice and the eagerness to reach the opposite shores kept us awake for a long time. With the ear resting on the frozen sea the vibrations and noises of the moving pack were not unlike those of an earthquake.

Breakfast was served early, and soon after we were on the thin ice to test its strength. Though the ice was hardly safe, it did not seem wise to wait longer, for the western skies were darkening with a wind that might destroy the new ice and compel a halt for a long time.

CONFIRMED PROOF

Residents of Marion Cannot Doubt What Has Been Twice Proved.

In gratitude for complete relief from aches and pains of bad backs—from distressing kidney ills—thousands have publicly recommended Doan's Kidney Pills. Residents of Marion, who so testified years ago, now say their cures were permanent. This testimony doubly proves the worth of Doan's Kidney Pills to Marion kidney sufferers.

Mrs. H. Rice, 231 Lincoln Ave., Marion, Ohio, says: "I hold a very favorable opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills, having used them in my family with beneficial results. Some ten or twelve years ago, we first procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Schmidt & Co.'s pharmacy and they proved to be a genuine kidney medicine, living up to all the claims made for them. At that time I freely gave a statement for publication recommending Doan's Kidney Pills and now I can say that lapse of time has not changed my opinion of them. I willingly give this excellent kidney medicine my re-endorsement."

A GREAT MAN AGAINST A GRAFTER.

By

William T. Ellis.

The International Sunday School Lesson for October 1 Is "Paul a Prisoner Befor Felix." Acts 24.

The imperfections of the judicial system in the United States have lately been pointed out by President Taft himself. Except in very rare instances, these do not include corruption. At times we learn of judges who are swayed primarily by ambition, social ties and pecuniary considerations: by all such the administration of justice is utterly impossible. Pure water does not flow from a foul spring. An instance of the effect of bribery upon the character of a judge is the case of Felix, before whom we find Paul standing in the course of his adventures.

Felix was a grafter. The graft habit had so eaten into his whole nature, that even when he came to consider seriously the question of personal religion, he still could not shake off the desire to make personal gain out of his teaching; even as many a man today finds the ruling evils of his life rising up before him in church, as a veil to shut out the truth of God. His essential corruption had so distorted the nature of Felix—history writes him down as the worst governor Judea ever had—that he could not deal justly with the prisoners before him. The high, inflexible and even-handed justice of the Roman courts was made a mockery by this debauched and crafty official. His story is one that should bring home to the youth of the Sunday-schools the blighting effects upon character and destiny of being swayed by any other considerations than those of honor and justice.

Giant at Bar, Pigmy on Bench.

In this Roman court room at Cesarea, the capital of the province of Judea, we see enacted a scene which history has often been called upon to record—greatness and honor standing at the judgment bar of pettiness and greed. Felix was a pigmy; Paul was a giant. Felix was not worthy to wash the feet of this prisoner upon whom his lecherous eyes leered so superciliously. He was serene and contemptuous in the delusion that power and position made him great—an error that has not yet perished from the earth. Jesus had no stand before Pilate; and truth and nobility often finds itself arraigned before meanness and time-serving politics. Mediocrisy often sits in judgment upon genius. Boorish wealth sometimes is served by true gentility. The present lesson, with its dramatic contrast in injustice, reminds us that

> "Honor and shame from no condition rise,
> Act well thy part; there all the honor lies."

A cynic, aware of the facts, would have found food for epigrams in that court room scene. Knowing the shady record of Felix, whose only merit seems to have been diligence in suppressing crimes of violence, so that the observer would have smiled inwardly at the fulsome flattery of the hired Roman advocate, Tertullus, who was doubtless employed for his "influence" with this Roman judge. The obsequiousness and servility of these proud Jews, including the high priest himself, before the haughty and cruel representative of the hated alien dominion, must have been a delight to the cynic. Even such a one could not have failed to show interest in the sophistry-puncturing statements of the plainly clad and badly-battered heretic at the bar, whose adventurous career had been enough to stir a cynic's blood. Anybody accustomed to measuring men could see that the merits of the case, as well as the personal greatness, all lay with the little Christianized Jew from Tarsus.

> "He left a corsair's name to other times > Linked to one virtue and a thousand crimes."

The Debate in Court.

A stormy petrel was Paul. There is no denying that wherever he went, commotions seemed to follow. That was because he was a personality, and preached a gospel which, when presented straight, always makes a stir. Commander Claudius Lysias, of the Jerusalem garrison, had been glad to have his hands free of Paul; after rescuing him from a mob, he had found the plot of forty assassins by sending the prisoner on by night to Cesarea. There, after five days, a deputation of leading Jews, including Ananias, the high priest, attended by a Roman pleader named Tertullus, journeyed to prefer charges against him.

The lawyer was sycophantic. He flattered Felix without regard to the facts. He called Paul "a pestilent fellow," "a mover of insurrections among all the Jews throughout the world," "a ringleader of the sect of the Nazarenes," and a profaner of the temple. It will be noted that he did not call Paul a leader of the "Christians;" it was the pagans who gave that name to the followers of Jesus, and not the Jews: to the latter it was an offense, for "Christ" was their sacred word for the expected Messiah. So they used the de name "Nazarenes," which is il ated by their proverb, "Can an thing come out of Nazareth?"

When the prisoner's turn ca speak, he showed himself as polished and urbane as the lawyer. But with this diffe Paul, in perfect. self-poss proved himself the better di and orator by his self-restra his opening salutation: he within the facts, which is alw way of a master. Dr. W. says, "There is scarcely a striking contrast in the reco oratory than that between th some harangue of the hired cate, Tertullus, and the manl plicity of Paul's defense. H attitude toward Roman magi was invariably that of a res but independent citizen." Th oner's incisive mind quickly the non-essential charges fro essential.

BIG CROWDS HEAR THE "OIL KING" OF FINDLAY

James Corbin Talks to the People of Salvation

GIVES A FORTUNE TO CAUSE OF CHRIST

Promises His Dying Wife To Meet Her in Heaven and Is Doing Everything Possible To Keep His Word Some Advice Given Those Who Are in Worldly Paths

James Corbin the oil king of Findlay addressed good sized crowd from the west steps of the court house Saturday afternoon and evening. He told of how after his wife died he read his Bible through [illegible] in seven months and how he was convinced he was called to bring home [illegible] salvation or condemnation [illegible] who heard him. This was the only way he could carry out his promise to meet his wife in heaven. He stated that hundred of thousand of church members have about as much connection with heaven as a phone has with central when the sleet is on and the wires are down. He did not generally denounce the churches more than to say that Jesus Christ came to save sinners not the saved and that the church is not doing this today. He stated that he is giving away all he makes now to keep the widows and orphans the cripples and helpless. The address [illegible] a very earnest plea concluded with a plea that those who heard might accept Christ.

Here are some of Corbin's striking thoughts:

I like to see a man who loves his wife and children. The trouble these days is that too many men love somebody [illegible] horse racing and the like.

As sure as there [illegible] there is a hell [illegible] I don't want to be associated with thieves and scoundrels in this life and I don't want to be [illegible] with them through-out eternity. It's no joke. I have been through the Ohio penitentiary twice but it didn't scare me to see those dark gloomy cells. I wish it [illegible] that way. It's only the man that isn't prepared to meet his God that is afraid of hell.

If you had pledged your word to meet your wife in heaven just as she passed on you would do just what I am doing. I'm connected up with the power house of Almighty God. If there is anyone here who wants a message put through to God I can put it through for him. There never was a happier man in our own than I am. Go to Findlay and ask about me if you want to. They'll tell you I gave my tenth, then my fourth, then my half and now it's all gone to the cause.

Worldly things don't bother me. God will take care of me. I hired an opera-house to cost twenty five dollars. Next day I went around to settle. The man told me "My son gave you five dollars yesterday and I think I owe you five dollars more." The opera house is already paid for. That's the way it is everywhere.

MOTHER BRINGS REMAINS HOME

Vernon E. Wasserbeck Dies in Oklahoma

Accompanying the remains of her baby son alone from Chickasaw, Oklahoma, Mrs Albert Wasserbeck arrived here Sunday night at 11 o'clock. The tiny coffin was taken from the baggage car and placed in a hack. The mother occupied the opposite seat and as she held her lonely vigil the hackman drove rapidly to the home of Edward G. Harger, No. [illegible]09 west Columbia street. Mrs Harger is Mrs Wasserbeck's sister.

The child Vernon Earl aged four months died of pneumonia last Friday and the mother left Chickasaw for Marion Saturday at noon. The infant was already prepared for burial. Monday afternoon the burial took place at Mt Olive near Green Camp.

HUNDREDS OF ACRES OF CORN STANDING

Dry Weather Prevents Farmers from Cutting Corn

Hundreds of acres of corn in Marion county remain uncut and will be left standing. Farmers say that the blades are too dry to be shocked. The corn will be pulled and husked after which the stock will be turned on the standing fodder. Not in years [illegible] say has so much corn been left uncut. This is due to the weather which has been exceedingly dry.

Sunday's rain came as a boon to Marion county farmers who say that the winter wheat was in much need of moisture.

Home From Camp

A PATHETIC SCENE IN ATTORNEYS' OFFICE

Grateful Mother Brings a Token of Appreciation

A pathetic sequel to the murder trial of George Hamner who escaped with the light conviction for assault and battery was presented in a scene in the office of Attorneys Monser & Moloney Monday morning when Mrs Mary Hedges the widowed mother of the prisoner appeared with a beautiful boquet.

"This is all I have to give you" the aged woman declared the tears streaming down her withered cheeks. "I can never repay you for what you have done. My boy was my only support." Attorney L. F. Myers who assisted in the defense of her son was called by telephone and the three lawyers accepted the gift with as much gratitude as if it had been a handsome check.

"Mrs Hedges wanted to mortgage her little home to pay us for our trouble" said Attorney Monser Monday "but we refused to accept such a sacrifice. I took part solely without compensation. Mr Myers and Mr Moloney had been appointed by the court to defend Hamner."

Mrs Solomon is the daughter of Mr and Mrs W. J. Almendinger of this place and is an attractive young woman. Mr Solomon is the son of Mr and Mrs Charles Solomon of two miles west of here and is a prosperous young farmer.

For the present Mr and Mrs Solomon will reside with the groom's parents.

MARYSVILLE BOYS ARE UNDER ARREST

Charged with Robbing Postoffice at Maplewood

Bellefontaine, O., Oct 9.—Gordon Leighty and [illegible] McCartney both sixteen of Marysville are under arrest at Sidney charged with robbing the Maplewood postoffice Tuesday. They were traced through their arrest at Quincy for carrying concealed weapons where they paid their fines with postage stamps. When arrested last night they were riding bicycles stolen at Marysville last week. The Marysville police say the boys robbed a postoffice at Peoria and the Erie depot at Lottersburg and several other places and twice eluded bloodhounds.

POLICE COURT

Monday afternoon Chief Cornwell filed affidavits in the mayor's court against Joseph Foster, Lee Clark, [illegible], Audrey King, [illegible] Heeter and William Pfeiffer charging them with disturbing the peace by fighting. The arrests were the outcome of a fight Sunday afternoon in front of the Leader hotel on west Center street.

Warrants were issued for the arrest of the six men and all with the exception of Pfeiffer were arraigned before the mayor Monday afternoon and evening. Each of the offenders pleaded guilty to the charge filed against him and was fined five dollars. They all had the money to pay and were released. Pfeiffer could not be found by the officer and it is believed that he left the city.

JURY RENDERS VERDICT IN THE HAMNER CASE

Hamner Found Guilty of Assault and Battery

JURY DELIBERATES ABOUT SIX HOURS

Jurors Call for Explanation of the Law and Its Penalties for Various Degrees of Murder and Assault—It Then Reports—Notes of Court of Common Pleas

George E. Hamner indicted for murder in the second degree for the killing of Roy Cubbison was found guilty of assault and battery by a jury which reported to Judge Daniel Babst Friday afternoon shortly before 5 o'clock after deliberating six hours. The prisoner's aged mother was sitting beside him when County Clerk W. W. Klinefelter read the verdict. No demonstration occurred. Mother and son only smiled happily and Attorneys G. E. Monser, W. P. Moloney and L. F. Myers, counsel for the defendant shook hands with each and congratulated them, [illegible] for the verdict meant that he will not be compelled to serve time in the penitentiary.

An hour before the jurors had sent word that they wanted more information concerning the judge's charge. Judge Babst and the attorneys interested in the case were notified but after they arrived at the court room the jurors informed Bailiff Charles Dee that they could straighten the matter out for themselves. Within a very short time however there was a loud rap on the jury room door and it was announced that information was desired as to the court's charge.

When the jurors filed into the court room and took their seats Foreman M. J. Morrall arose and asked Judge Babst what the penalty was for murder in the second degree, manslaughter, assault and battery and assault. Considerable delay followed the judge calling counsel for both sides to the bench and conferring with them in undertones.

Finally the court informed the jury that conviction to second degree murder carried with it a penalty of life imprisonment, manslaughter from one to twenty years in the penitentiary and for assault and battery or assault from one hour to six months in jail or workhouse or a fine from one dollar to $500 or both.

"But that is not for you to determine," the court added. "You are not to concern yourselves with the penalty fixed by the law for the crime of which the prisoner at bar is charged. It is for you to determine whether or not the prisoner is guilty or innocent of the crime as charged in the indictment."

Attorney Monser took exception to the court's statement to the jury which retired to deliberations. Within a short time the jurors again filed into the court room with their verdict.

The jurors were M. J. Morrall, foreman, Grand Prairie township; Simon Bowman, [illegible]; A. E. John, Pleasant township; D. Shoner, Claridon township; W. J. Kauffman, Richland township; Jacob Fetter, Claridon township; Philip Schroll, Marion township; Daniel [illegible], Prospect township; James Bell, Montgomery township; George Gunther, Tully township; J. A. Gill and Henry R. Keller, Marion.

"It's impossible to get a jury to convict a man for murder in Marion county any more when a man [illegible]" said Prosecuting Attorney Charles E. Justice after leaving the courthouse. His final argument before the jury was one of the ablest old attorneys say they have heard before a jury in Marion county in recent years.

George E. Hamner was fined $200 and costs and sentenced to serve six months in the workhouse for the [illegible] of Roy Cubbison [illegible] noon.

Maggie Whiley was granted a decree of divorce from William Whiley and restored to her maiden name of Dial by Judge Babst Monday afternoon. Her petition was filed August 1, 1909. The Whileys were married January 8, 1898. She charged three years willful neglect and desertion.

A civil action to recover judgment for $84.11 from E. E. Adams was filed in the common pleas court Tuesday by the Charles Warner company of Wilmington, Delaware through Attorney Fred W. Warner. County Clerk W. W. Klinefelter and Minnie Adams are named as defendants and the petition asks that they be required to set up their interest if they have any in the premises described in the petition.

For his cause of action the plaintiff alleges that April 10, 1901 it recovered a judgment of $205.78 against E. E. Adams in the court of Justice H. C. [illegible]. They also [illegible] that the clerk of the court [illegible] an execution to issue to the sheriff who levied on the interest of Adams and that the judgment became a valid lien on lot No. [illegible] in Mt Vernon Heights addition to the city that Adams paid $1 on the judgment November 1, 190[illegible].

The plaintiff asks that the premises be sold and the proceeds be applied to the judgment obtained in the justice's court and that the claims of County Clerk Klinefelter for costs and the interests of Minnie R. Adams be set apart.

In the suit of Philip Dutt, executor of the last will and testament of Henry Behner deceased against John H. Plasch the defendant is found in default for answer and demurrer and that by reason thereof the allegations in the petition are thus confessed to be true. The court finds due the plaintiff on the note set up in the petition from the defendant $5[illegible] with interest at six per cent from October 11, 1904.

On the application of George Whysall and E. E. Guthery, receivers for the Columbus, Marion & Bucyrus Railroad company, Judge Babst has given them leave to enter into a contract with Uncapher & Scott for so much of [illegible] street at Bucyrus by paving as required by the company's franchise. The receivers are ordered and directed to issue receivers certificates in payment for the work as the costs and expenses become due and payable.

A demurrer in the damage suit of Harley Osborne against the Columbus, Delaware & Marion Railway company has been filed in the common pleas court by Attorney [illegible] Williams of Columbus, counsel for the defendant. It is alleged that the plaintiff's petition does not state sufficient facts to constitute a cause of action.

A motion to secure costs has been sustained in the civil action of the United States Fidelity & Guaranty company against Wallace McBride and others.

The bail of Harry Kennedy held on a second indictment for criminally assaulting his little daughter has been fixed at $2,000. Friends are attempting to furnish it.

The following cases have been assigned by Judge Babst:

October 20—State of Ohio against [illegible], paternity. George Flum against Charles W. [illegible], appeal.

October 22—State of Ohio against [illegible] Rish, paternity.

October 2[illegible]—State of Ohio against [illegible] Johnson, criminal assault.

October 27—Mary E. Decker and others against David Hughes, executor and others, to contest a will.

October [illegible]—George A. [illegible] against Emma Ferrin and others, petition in the matter of the estate of [illegible] Goodnes deceased, appeal. Through her attorney H. Edmund [illegible], Pearl Solomon brought an action in common pleas court Thursday afternoon for a divorce from Charles W. Solomon. She avers that the defendant has failed to provide for her or their four children. For the [illegible] years he has been an habitual drunkard and has repeatedly [illegible] her, she claims. She further avers that Abbie Solomon, her [illegible], has been a trouble maker in the family and seeks to poison the minds of the children against her. She asks divorce, custody of the children, reasonable alimony and a temporary injunction restraining the defendant from disposing of or encumbering their personal property.

A suit to dissolve the Marion Smoke Consumer & Fuel Saver company was heard in the common pleas court October 8, the plaintiffs being George W. Walters and others who allege that the company cannot pay its liabilities.

The Marion Smoke Consumer & Fuel Saver company is a corporation organized to manufacture [illegible] devices to consume smoke and gases.

[illegible] was appointed by Judge Daniel Babst referee to conduct the hearing.

Attorney Harry N. Quigley represents the plaintiffs.

One of the two indictments charging Harry Kennedy with criminally assaulting his own daughter was nollied by Judge Daniel Babst Monday afternoon at the request of Prosecuting Attorney Charles E. Justice. Kennedy's trial was set for Monday but Prosecutor Justice informed the court that Kennedy's little daughter now denied the horrible tale she told the grand jury and that other important witnesses also said they had not told the truth. For these reasons he asked that one of the indictments be nollied and that Kennedy be held under the second indictment until the case could be sifted to the bottom. The next grand jury will make an investigation.

The cases of alleged bootlegging against John K. Forsythe, M. J. [illegible] and Edward Burke, Fred M. Page and P. H. Neidig were argued before Judge Babst last Monday. Attorneys E. E. Myers and Fred W. Warner represent Forsythe while Attorneys Monser & Moloney and [illegible] Marriott of Delaware represent the other four.

ROBBERS MAKE BIG HAUL IN STAMPS

The Postoffice at Middletown Robbed of Stamps

A United Press wire from Hamilton says: Five thousand and seven hundred dollars worth of stamps were stolen from the postoffice at Middletown last night in one of the most daring robberies in the history of the Miami valley. The postoffice is located in the heart of the business district a half block away from a depot and leading hotel. The robbers jimmied a rear window to gain an entrance. They used electric drills in the postoffice vault drilling the lock full of holes until it shattered. They then helped themselves. The robbery was not discovered until this morning. Nothing else was disturbed in the office. A safe that contained $200 was not molested.

Case of Charity

The infirmary directors of Delaware county were in the city Sunday investigating the condition of Mrs William Shevalier of east Farming street who came from that county about a month ago. Drs. J. H. Taylor Jr. and H. S. Rhu who attended the woman reported that her condition is alarming and that an operation will be necessary to save her life. It was on this report that the infirmary directors visited her. The operation on the woman was performed Monday afternoon and while her condition is very critical there is slight hope for her recovery.

MRS. C. H. HUFFMAN ENTERTAINS A CLUB

The Carpe Diem Club Meets at Richwood.

THE NEW PRESIDENT BEGINS HER DUTIES

The Ladies' Aid Society of the M. P. Church at Richwood Meets with Mrs. Frances Kinney—Plans for Work of the Year Are Discussed. Some Richwood Notes.

Richwood, Oct. 12.—[Special.]—Mrs. C. H. Huffman, at her home on south Franklin street, was hostess to the members of the Carpe Diem club, Thursday afternoon, this being the first regular meeting of the season. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. O. L. Mather. At roll call the members responded to their names with interesting reminiscences of their vacations, several of the club women having enjoyed lengthy trips during the summer. The retiring president, Mrs. O. L. Mather, addressed the club and was followed by the new president, Mrs. G. J. Baldwin, in a few words of greeting. Mrs. F. L. Winter read Tennyson''s "Gueniveve." Several minor business matters were given attention and plans for the coming season were discussed. After adjournment a very pleasant social hour was spent. The club will meet October 14 with Mrs. R. H. Allison, of north Clinton street.

Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Harris are visiting relatives and old friends in Knox county.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Gill and daughters, Elinor, Pauline and Azile, spent Thursday in Marion.

G. W. Worden and O. A. Keigley spent a few days with the latter's parents in London, during the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Losey are visiting relatives and friends in North Lewisburg, Urbana and Springfield.

Mrs. Frances Kinney was hostess to the Ladies' Aid society of the M. P. church, Wednesday afternoon, at the home of Charles Trusdell, on east Blagrove street. The afternoon was spent in discussing plans for the season's work by the society.

Puzant Arpee, who is employed as a watchmaker at Peoria, Illinois, has been the guest of his brother and sister, Rev. Leon Arpee and Miss Sirouhee T. Arpee, during the past several days.

Miss Flavilla Harriman has returned home from Marion, where she spent several days with her brothers, J. S. and F. J. Harriman and families.

Miss Hazel Robinson, who has been visiting relatives in Cleveland, for several weeks past, has resigned her position with the Richwood Telephone company, and will remain in Cleveland, where she has secured employment.

Mrs. E. R. Holsenpiller, of Magnetic Springs, was the guest, Wednesday, of Mrs. G. W. Kosht, of west Ottawa street.

Quite a number from Richwood and vicinity attended the horse show and races at West Mansfield, October 6-7. A. B. Staley with the pacer Bonnie J, was first and second in the two races in which he started. M. B. Koffroth started Frank Arthur in two and finished second and third respectively. S. W. Van Winkle's Arandale was third in the 2:40 trot, which was ended by darkness after four heats had been raced. E. E. Moore's Marie Wilson, after winning the first heat of her race from seven competitors, could get no better than fourth money, the race going the limit of five heats. Carl Allgower's good trotter, McShad, started in a mixed race against both trotters and pacers, but failed to get a place.

Edward Field, the six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Field, of west Ottawa street, who was injured at school a few weeks ago by being struck on the left shoulder with a large stone, met with another accident a few days ago while playing at school. He fell and struck his left arm in such a manner that the large bone was fractured below the shoulder. The child was taken to Marion, Thursday, by his father and Dr. L. L. Roebuck, and the Xrays were used on the injured shoulder and arm. His injuries have proved quite serious and the little fellow will probably not be able to attend school any more this year.

Mrs. J. W. Wildermuth, Mrs. H. G. Johnson and Mrs. W. N. Lechner, of Columbus, were guests, Friday, of their niece, Miss Bessie Baker.

Charles Marriott, of Columbus, visited his mother, Mrs. Lovina Marriott, during the past week.

B. C. Daniels, of Columbus, spent a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Daniels, during the past week.

Walter Allgower, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Allgower has been dangerously ill for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Baker were called to Reedsburg, last week, by the death of the former's sister, Mrs. Alonzo Home, who died of apoplexy. Funeral services were held Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles King are moving to Richwood from their farm just north of here. They have purchased the property of the former's father the late Dr. E. Y. King, on the corner of Franklin and Bomford streets. The dwelling will be enlarged and remodeled.

Miss Marion C. Marriott, at her home on Beatty avenue, was hostess to the members of the Black Cat club, Thursday evening. A delightful evening was spent by the club members.

Miss Martha Fischer, who is employed as trimmer at Mrs. S. E. Smith's millinery store, spent Sunday and Monday with her parents at Spring Valley.

By a unanimous vote of the members of Livingston Post, G. A. R., at the last regular meeting, it was decided to invite the ex-prisoners of war of Ohio to hold their next annual reunion at Richwood, next June.

Miss Ethel Fisher left, Friday night, for Cincinnati, where she is taking a commercial course in a business college.

A daughter was born, Thursday morning, to Mr. and Mrs. Otto Boggs, of west Bomford street. The child lived but a short time.

Mrs. Melissa Gill and daughters, Mrs. Frank Edsell, Mrs. Harold Williams and Miss Nellie Gill, of Marion, were guests, Friday, of Mrs. Gill's sister, Mrs. M. W. Hill, of east Ottawa street. All were former residents of Richwood. Mrs. Gill is making arrangements to go to California to spend the winter with her son, William Gill, who is engaged in the hotel business on Catalina island.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lattimore and Emmett Lowe, of Mt. Vernon, have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hoxworth, northwest of Richwood, during the past week.

M. W. Hill and son, Clarence, have been in Elmira, New York, during the past week, purchasing cattle.

A daughter was born, Friday afternoon, to Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Morris, of Carroll. Mrs. Morris was formerly Miss Ammah Winters, and she has been visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Winters, of south Franklin street, for some time.

The Delphian Oratorical society has been organized by the Richwood High school. Ernest Cameron is president of the first section, Ralph Fackler of the second section and Marian Scott of the third section. A very interesting program was rendered Friday by members of the first section. Rhetoricals will be held every two weeks at the High school.

Mrs. Frank Graham, Mrs. E. R. Rosette and Mrs. B. F. Sloop entertained a number of the Sunday-school pupils of the M. P. church, Friday evening. The evening was very enjoyably spent with games, music and other pastimes and a taffy-pull was much enjoyed. The guests were Miss Mary Sloop, Miss Macy Morris, Chester Shoup, Lee Sloop, Paul Rosette and Milford White.

Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Koffroth attended the horse show and race meeting at West Mansfield last week.

Mr. and Mrs. James Dugan are moving into their new residence on west Bomford street.

DR. FRANK R. MANN WINS FINDLAY BRIDE

Marries Miss Anna Dennison at Findlay.

COMPANY OF FRIENDS WITNESSES CEREMONY

The Young People Leave for a Trip in the Northern Part of the State. They Will Return to Marion in a Short Time and Will Occupy Home Which Is Waiting for Them.

Miss Anna Dennison, of Findlay, and Dr Frank R. Mann, of this city, were united in marriage at the home of the bride's mother, in that city, Thursday evening, October 7. The young couple mingled with the company until the appointed hour when they took their places under an arch of autumn leaves and golden rod where, in the presence of about twenty-five of the immediate relatives, Rev. W. F. Eagleson, of the Presbyterian church, read the marriage service.

After the assembled company had extended congratulation, dinner was served in the dining-room. Suspended from the chandelier above the bride's table was a basket of bride roses with smilax extending to the corners of the table.

Mr. and Mrs. Mann left during the evening for a short trip to points in the northern part of the state. Upon their return to this city they will be at home to their friends in a cozy flat on west Center street, already prepared by the groom.

Those in attendance from this city were Mr and Mrs. J. G. Mann and Miss Zella Mann.

Mrs. Mann is the daughter of Mrs. George Dennison, of Findlay, and is a young woman of a pleasing personality. She is a favorite in the younger social circles of that city and has many friends in Marion, having visited here a number of times.

Dr. Mann is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Mann, of Mt. Vernon avenue. He is a graduate of the Marion High school and the dental department of the Ohio Medical university, of Columbus, and has been located in business in this city for the past two years. He is held in high regard by his friends.

SMITH INVESTIGATES LOCAL CONDITIONS

Finds City Fire Protection Poor Indeed.

FIRE DEPARTMENT POORLY EQUIPPED

Not Enough Men in Service and the Apparatus Not Sufficient—Water Plant Is Not What It Should Be. The Result of Tests Made in Two Months.

H. Oram Smith, of the Ohio inspection bureau of state underwriters who has been here for the last two months investigating risk conditions of the city, Friday made his final tests incidental to his work. He stated, that afternoon, that the city's fire protection was far below the standard. He said that the water plant is insufficient, the fire department poorly equipped as to apparatus and number of men and conditions generally are far below the standard.

Mr. Smith was very fair in his criticism of affairs. He said that in his tests of the water pressure, Friday morning, but one engine was used, where under ordinary circumstances whenever there is a fire in the business section of the city, both engines are used. He said his test was satisfactory for his purpose and that no further test would be made. The test he stated was to ascertain the physical value of the water plant. The tests were made in the four corner sections of the city. The south test was made from the hydrant at the corner of Prospect and Hill street. The static pressure there was fifty pounds, while normal would require about eighty pounds. The hydraulic pressure was but twenty-seven, about fifty per cent. of normal. The general test however was made on north Main street from the hydrant adjacent to the court-house. Here ten streams were tried, the static pressure being but forty-seven pounds and the hydraulic but twenty. When the six-stream test was made, it proved to be very satisfactory to the inspector. His conclusion was that a six-stream protection is the limit of the local water plant. "Everything," he said, "indicates, as my report will show, that the city's protection is inadequate."

Mr. Smith highly complimented Chief McFarland and his men for the maintenance of the fire departments and their success in fighting fires in spite of lack of men and apparatus and spoke highly of the water company's plant, such as it is. He condemned the system of wiring in the city.

THE HEADLEY DRUG COMPANY'S STORE

Jules V. Barnd Buys the Store at Receiver's Sale.

The Headley Drug company's store, located on west Center street, has been purchased by Jules V. Barnd at receiver's sale, the price paid being $2,850.

L. E. Thatcher, who had conducted the store several months as receiver for the company, was given leave by Judge W. E. Scofield, Saturday, to sell all the property in his hands at the price named. He was also allowed $250 compensation as receiver and the firm of Crissinger & Guthery was allowed the same amount as attorneys for plaintiff, Forest R. Pond, and Receiver Thatcher.

A Pleasant Gathering.

Sunday was a memorable day for Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Boxwell, of Green Camp, it being the first time that their entire family of children and grandchildren had ever assembled together. Together with a few invited guests from Marion, the company numbered about thirty-five. A fine dinner and supper was served.

STATEMENTS ARE TWISTED

Says Dr Frederick A Cook to the United Press,

REFERRING TO THE CHARGES OF PEARY

The Eskimos Have Obeyed the Orders of Doctor

Refused To Reveal the Fact That They Had Gone Onto the Ice of the Polar Sea—Dr Cook Will Bring His Companions Back with His Instruments as Soon as Navigation Is Opened

Cleveland O Oct 1[illegible] Dr Frederick A Cook made hot retort today to Commander Peary's detailed charge that Cook did not reach the pole

Peary's charge made in the form of a statement to the public and signed by himself and four other members of his party was that Cook's Eskimo boys I Tool A Shoo and Ah Pe Lah had admitted at [illegible] in August that Cook did not go to the pole that his farthest north was Cape Thomas Hubbard or a point about 81½ degrees of latitude

Dr Cook came back today with the statement that his Eskimos had been instructed not to tell Peary of Cook's trip over the polar sea that they kept their word and that those things that they had said to Peary and his men had been twisted Cook infers that I Tool A Shoo and Ah Pe Lah threw Peary and his men off the track by telling of Cook's movement south of Cape Thomas Hubbard and true to their promise saying nothing of their trip north [illegible] to the [illegible]

Dr Cook was seen upon his arrival at [illegible] It was shown the Peary charges Saying that he had no [illegible] before and being [illegible] interest in them he went into the seclusion of his hotel room and read them and looked over the map Peary had sent out along with the statement It is Peary's claim that the map was prepared by [illegible] Bartlett Mc Millan [illegible] and [illegible] from information given by Cook's two Eskimos The latter according to Peary [illegible] on the map Cook's [illegible] the members of the Peary party [illegible] it down on this map

After Dr Cook had read the charges he sent for the United Press representative and gave out the following statement which was in his own handwriting

Eskimos Obey Orders

"The Eskimos were instructed not to tell Mr [illegible] or his men of our trip over the polar sea They have kept their word Mr Whitney has said that [illegible] talk the Eskimos did not understand the questions or the map [illegible] have been twisted to suit a [illegible] interest

"I will not enter into an argument about the matter but I will bring the [illegible] to New York at my own expense [illegible] prove as did Mr Whitney [illegible] I have claimed

"My records [illegible] are in the hands of the University of Copenhagen [illegible] they will receive their first examination and I am sure they will [illegible] When the University of Copenhagen has given the final judgment [illegible] records will be [illegible] simultaneously to all the geographical societies of the world The world's scientists may then decide whether the statements that I have made [illegible] or whether on the other hand they are false

Praise for Peary

"My instruments were cached near Etah by Mr Harry Whitney of New Haven [illegible] about Etah [illegible] An expedition will be sent north in June to bring the instruments home They will throw further light upon the truth or falsity of my statements"

Though Dr Cook was shown [illegible] Peary [illegible] before stepping up on the platform at [illegible] he might be found occasion in the [illegible] to pay tribute to Commander Peary

"There was nothing [illegible] wonderful [illegible]" he said "We used no [illegible] no balloons no motor [illegible] We needed but for one circumstance [illegible] circumstance in [illegible] and [illegible] the [illegible] of subsistence and that of transportation to the standard of primitive man

"I [illegible] those who have preceded me to Nansen and the [illegible] and to Peary"

Drives Up to Highland Park Savings Institution in Auto Borrowed from Nevada Miner and After Driving Employes into Cage at Point of Gun Helps Himself to $500—Unknown to Chauffeur

Chicago Oct 1[illegible] [illegible] bank of D M Erskine & Company at Highland Park Ill a village north of Chicago was robbed by a lone bandit who committed suicide by shooting himself in the mouth when [illegible] an officer and a posse of citizens

A companion of the robber who had driven him to the bank in an automobile was captured immediately following the robbery which forced the principal actor in the crime to flee on foot [illegible] then engaged in a running duel with Town Marshal John Sheehan and failing to drive back his pursuers ran into a shed When he saw Sheehan enter the shed with his revolver leveled at his head the fugitive put the muzzle of his own revolver in his mouth and fired death ensuing almost immediately

The robbery was conducted in a deliberate and spectacular manner the bandit securing $[illegible]00 in gold coin and bills after he had forced [illegible] C Duffy cashier of the bank Miss Nellie Fitzgerald the bookkeeper and Joseph [illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] in [illegible] into the cashier's cage just after the closing of business for the day

Automobile Owner Located

It was learned that the dead bank robber had registered at the [illegible] House in Evanston Ill [illegible] Wilson Milwaukee Wis and that the automobile which took him to the Highland Park bank had been hired [illegible] him by [illegible] Kevlyn a wealthy mining man of Goldfield Nev who lives in Evanston [illegible]

The man under arrest [illegible] believed by the police to have been a confederate of the robber is Kevlyn's chauffeur His name is [illegible] Schwab and he had been a trusted employe of Kevlyn in the west and in Chicago for several years

Schwab declared that he knew nothing about the character of his passenger and that he had suspected nothing until he saw him [illegible] his heels after leaving the bank

Kevlyn told the authorities how Wilson had gained his confidence in a talk at the hotel relating to him incidents of life in the west with which he was familiar He told Kevlyn that his home was in San Francisco When he sought to hire an automobile Kevlyn suggested that he take his [illegible] Kevlyn also [illegible] him his [illegible] [illegible] which [illegible] was [illegible] his [illegible]

Robber Identified

Chicago Oct 1[illegible] The police of Highland Park Illinois today declared they had [illegible] enough information to enable them to tell who the robber who [illegible] after he had robbed the D M Erskine bank at that place was [illegible] Harris of Los Angeles California The body lies in a morgue at Highland Park

The initials [illegible] on the robber's underclothes and papers in his pockets lead the police to believe the man was Harris

HE MAKES SHARP REPLY TO KNOX

Accuses the Secretary of State of Butting In

Says That Taft Had Planned for Him To Go to the Orient by Way of Europe and Japan—Denies Having Given Out Newspaper Interviews—Wires Resignation to President in the West

Washington Oct 1[illegible] When Secretary of State Knox virtually forced Charles R Crane recently appointed minister to China out of the diplomatic service [illegible] growing out of [illegible] of [illegible] conduct on his part was practically ended

Secretary Knox asked Mr Crane to tender his resignation but the latter declined to hand it to Mr Knox and instead notified President Taft by telegraph that it was at Mr Taft's disposal Realizing [illegible] Mr Crane sent his telegram to President Taft before he [illegible] from Mr Knox saying that Mr Crane's resignation would be accepted While technically Mr Crane is still the American minister to China President Taft's acceptance of his resignation is expected at any moment

In a statement given to the press which was issued after Secretary Knox had been in consultation with Henry M Hoyt the counsellor of the state department and Fred W Carpenter secretary to the president Mr Knox indicated that the sole cause for desiring to revoke Mr Crane's commission was that the latter had been guilty of furnishing certain information to a Chicago newspaper in regard to the proposed attitude of the American government in its diplomatic dealings with China According to Mr Knox's announcement Mr Crane admitted responsibility for this article which Mr Knox incidentally declared to be [illegible]

Comes Back at Knox

Mr Crane came back at Mr Knox in a long statement in which he denies that he gave out a newspaper [illegible] Mr Knox had said and cites President Taft as having given him authority to speak freely of the relations between China and the United States Mr Crane quoted the president as saying with reference to invitations received by Mr Crane to attend public affairs in his honor "do not miss any of them and when you go to one insist on speaking and let them have it [illegible]"

Mr Crane also accuses Mr Knox of having disarranged his plans made by Mr Crane at President Taft's instance to go to Europe and Japan on his way to China for the purpose of having conference with well informed and influential persons

While denying that all the information contained in the newspaper article which Mr Knox found objectionable was furnished by him Mr Crane declares that in his judgment what he did say to the newspaper correspondent was in accord with the spirit of the president's wishes that he should talk freely

Taft Refuses to Talk

Monrovia Cal Oct 1[illegible] President Taft when shown the dispatch from Washington that Secretary of State Knox had requested the resignation of Minister Crane positively declined to discuss the subject in any way

REACHES CANYON AHEAD OF TIME

To Give More Time on Brink of Chasm

Mr Taft Is Up Early To See the Sunrise on the Wonderful Colorings of the Canyon—Refuses To Talk a Bit of Crane but It Is Understood That Latter's Doom Is Sealed

Grand Canyon Ariz Oct 11—President Taft was up early today to see the sunrise in the wonderful colorings of the Grand canyon His train arrived a few hours ahead of time from Ashford so the president might have a longer stay on the brink of the gigantic chasm

In company with Governor Sloan and two or three other celebrities of the territory the president had breakfast on his train and was then taken in a stage to various points of interest along the edge of the canyon

The president will remain here until [illegible] p m when he will leave for Albuquerque

Mr Taft absolutely refuses to discuss any phase of the Crane incident for publication but it is understood he regards the matter as finally closed He believes Crane was indiscreet in talking about diplomatic matters and thinks he is therefore not suited for the place of minister to China or for any position in the diplomatic service

Postmaster General Hitchcock who is traveling with the president through Arizona has been in the state four days and the politicians of these parts are in a fever of speculation over the why and wherefore

Hitchcock Feeling People

In company with Delegate Cameron and two or three others the postmaster general has ridden horseback from town to town and it is believed by many that he is on a tour of investigation that will decide the statehood question If the postmaster general finds that Arizona will be in the Republican column they say the statehood [illegible] will slide down the ways as it [illegible]

If on the other hand Mr Hitchcock concludes after his conferences with the leading business men and politicians of the territory that the Democrats are likely to capture the two senators which the new state would be entitled to have the launching will certainly not take place next winter and perhaps not for several congressional winters to come

When Mr Hitchcock was asked about his mission in Arizona he skilfully changed the subject and talked about the weather

Promising Statehood

President Taft is making definite promises to the people of Arizona that he will do all in his power to get statehood for them but is warning them they must not frame a constitution like the Oklahoma instrument If they do he hints they will cut out an enormous amount of trouble for themselves

It is believed by some of the business men with whom Hitchcock has conferred that the postmaster general is quite as much concerned in discovering what sort of a constitution is likely to be framed as he is over the probable political complexion of the new state

If the Arizona constitution were to contain a list of anti-railroad and anti-corporation articles they believe it would be more obnoxious to the majority in congress and the administration than would the entrance of the new state as Democratic

"The president is quite right in warning the people against repeating the Oklahoma constitution" said Dwight [illegible] Heard a prominent business man and publisher of Phoenix [illegible] today "A very strong element in the territory is in favor of the state bank [illegible] feature and it is almost certain [illegible] stronger element would [illegible] on curbing the [illegible] power [illegible] constitution"

Judge Anderson Intimates Canal Deal Is Queer

Will Not Have To Go to District of Columbia

Court Briefly Reviews the History of the Canal Zone Deal and Places Particular Stress Upon the Acts of Nelson Cromwell in Refusing To Answer Certain Questions Which Are Propounded to Him

Indianapolis Ind Oct 1[illegible] In the United States court of this district Judge A B Anderson dismissed the proceedings against Delavan Smith and Charles R Williams proprietors of the Indianapolis News who were resisting removal to the District of Columbia for trial under a grand jury indictment charging them with having committed criminal libel in publishing articles alleging that there was a corrupt profit of $28,000,000 in the sale of the Panama canal to the United States

"That man has read the history of our institutions to[o] little purpose" said Judge Anderson in concluding his decision "who does not view with apprehension the success of such a proceeding as this to the end that citizens could be dragged from their homes to the District of Columbia the seat of government for trial under the circumstances of this case The defendants are discharged"

Continuing the judge said "I am of the opinion that the fact that certain persons were called thieves and swindlers does not constitute libel per se A newspaper has a certain duty to perform As a former president has said it is the duty of a newspaper to print the news and to tell the truth about it It is the duty of a newspaper to draw inferences for the people"

The court then briefly reviewed the history of the canal zone deal intimating that there were many peculiar circumstances about the whole business and placing particular stress upon the action of William Nelson Cromwell in refusing to answer certain questions when called before the senate investigating committee

The Boston Girl

The most likely clue to the girl's identity the police declare is the story that she is Mildred Higgins of Boston Her fifteen years the weight of 100 pounds and the fact that she was five feet tall and had brown hair makes her description more nearly fit that of the dead girl than that of any girl so far mentioned

According to Miss Higgins' mother Mrs Mary Higgins of Roxbury the girl disappeared October [illegible] Mrs Higgins at that time accused Joseph Harris alias Burnham in connection with her daughter's disappearance and told a remarkable story Mrs Higgins declared Burnham had chloroformed her taken $200 of her money and then stolen the girl The police believe it is possible that the Higgins girl may be the victim and advices from Boston say that a dragnet has been sent through all New England for Burnham as the police desire his story of the girl's disappearance localities and details as the two boys.

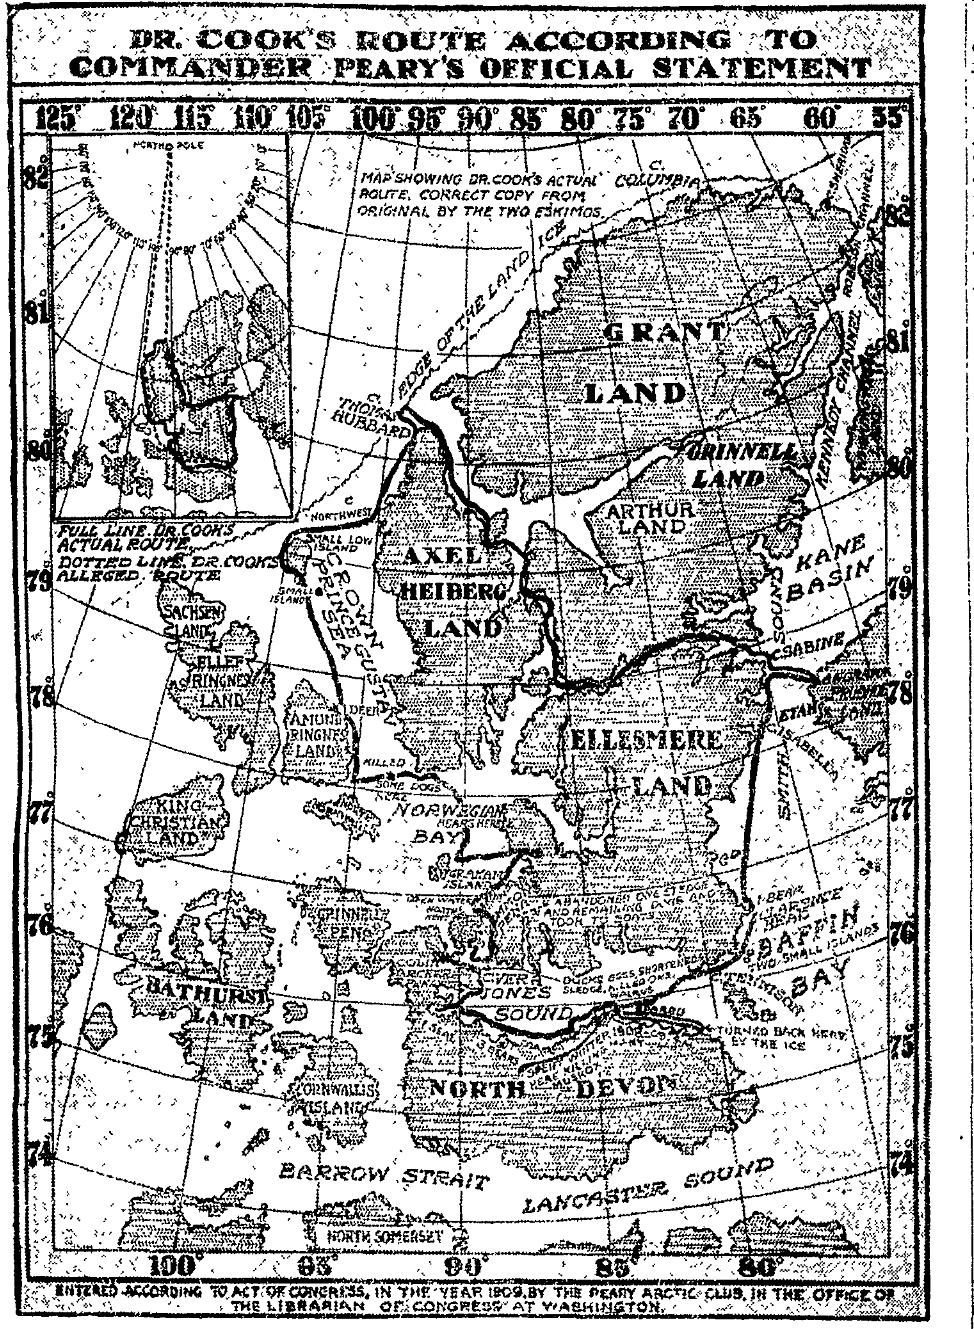
Then the first boy was brought in again, and with a pencil he traced on the map their route, members of our party writing upon the chart where, according to the boy's statement, they had killed deer, bear some of their dogs, seal, walrus and musk-oxen.

The second boy was then called in and the two went over the chart together, the second boy suggesting some changes as noted hereafter.

Finally, Panikpah, the father, was again called in to verify details of the portions of the route with which he was personally familiar

The bulk of the boys' testimony was not taken by Commander Peary, nor in his presence, a fact that obviates any possible claim that they were awed by him.

Certain questions on independent lines from the direct narrative of the Eskimo boys were suggested by Commander Peary to some of us, and were put by us to the Eskimo boys.



DR. COOK'S ROUTE ACCORDING TO COMMANDER PEARY'S OFFICIAL STATEMENT

ENTERED ACCORDING TO ACT OF CONGRESS, IN THE YEAR 1909, BY THE PEARY ARCTIC CLUB, IN THE OFFICE OF THE LIBRARIAN OF CONGRESS AT WASHINGTON.

The accompanying map is reproduced exactly from the original submitted by Commander Peary with his official statement by which he hopes to prove that Dr. Frederick A. Cook never reached the north pole. The map purports to have been traced out in the presence of the two Eskimos who were with Dr. Cook and, according to Peary, is based upon their actual statements as to Cook's entire journey. The dotted lines in the small map in the upper left hand corner is the route which Dr. Cook says he took on his journey to and from the pole after leaving Cape Thomas Hubbard. The irregular line extending northeast from Isachsen Land is the edge of the land ice, beyond which, Peary declares, Dr Cook did not venture.

Still later, Commander Peary asked the Eskimo boys two or three casual questions on minor points that had occurred to him.

During the taking of this testimony, it developed that Dr. Cook had told these boys, as he told Mr. Whitney and Billy Pritchard, the cabin boy, that they must not tell Commander Peary or any of us anything about their journey, and the boys stated Dr. Cook had threatened them if they should tell anything.

The narrative of these Eskimos is as follows:

They, with Dr. Cook, Francke and nine other Eskimos, left Anoratok, crossed Smith's Sound to Cape Sabine, slept in Commander Peary's old house in Payer Harbor, then went through Rice Strait to Buchanan Bay. After a few marches Francke and three Eskimos returned to Anoratok.

Dr. Cook, with the others, then proceeded up Flagler Bay, a branch of Buchanan Bay, and crossed Ellesmere Land through the valley pass at the head of Flagler Bay, indicated by Commander Peary in 1898, and utilized by Sverdrup in 1899, to the head of Sverdrup's "Bay Fiord" on the west side of Ellesmere Land

Their route then lay out through this fiord, thence north through Sverdrup's "Heuerka Sound" and Nansen Strait.

On their way they killed musk-oxen and bear, and made caches, arriving eventually at a point on the west side of Nansen Strait (shore of Axel Heiberg Land of Sverdrup), south of Cape Thomas Hubbard

A cache was formed here and the four Eskimos did not go beyond this point. Two others, Koolootingwah and Wanghuto, went on one more march with Dr. Cook and the two boys, helped to build the snow igloo, then returned without sleeping.

(These two Eskimos brought back a letter from Dr. Cook to Francke, dated the 17th of March. The two men rejoined the other four men who had been left behind, and the six returned to Anoratok, arriving May 7th. This information was obtained not from the two Eskimo boys, but from the six men who returned and from Francke himself, and was known to us in the summer of 1908, when the Roosevelt first arrived at Etah. The information is inserted here as supplementary to the narrative of the two boys)

After sleeping at the camp where the last two Eskimos turned back, Dr. Cook and the two boys went in a northerly or northwesterly direction with two sledges and twenty odd dogs, one more march, when they encountered rough ice and a lead of open water. They did not enter this rough ice, nor cross the lead, but turned westward or southwestward a short distance and returned to Heiberg Land at a point west of where they had left the cache and where the four men had turned back

Here they remained four or five sleeps, and during that time I-took-a-shoo went back to the cache and got his gun which he had left there, and a few items of supplies.

When asked why only a few supplies were taken from the cache, the boys replied that only a small amount of provisions had been used in the few days since they left the cache, and that their sledges still had all they could carry, so that they could not take more

After being informed of the boys' narrative thus far, Commander Peary suggested a series of questions to be put to the boys in regard to this trip from the land out and back to it.

These questions and answers were as follows:

Did they cross many open leads or much open water during this time? Ans. None.

Did they make any caches out on the ice? Ans. No.

Did they kill any bear or seal while out on the ice north of Cape Thomas Hubbard? Ans. No.

Did they kill or lose any of their dogs while out on the ice? Ans. No.

With how many sledges did they start? Ans. Two

How many dogs did they have? Ans. Did not remember exactly, but something over twenty.

How many sledges did they have when they got back to land? Ans. Two.

Did they have any provisions left on their sledges when they came back to land? Ans. Yes: the sledges still had about all they could carry, so they were able to take but a few things from the cache.

From here they then went southwest along the northwest coast of Heiberg Land to a point indicated on the map (Sverdrup's Cape Northwest).

From here they went west across the ice, which was level and covered with snow, offering good going, to a low island which they had seen from the shore of Heiberg Land at Cape Northwest. On this island they camped for one sleep.

The size and position of this island, as drawn by the first boy, was criticised by the second boy as being too large and too far to the west, the second boy calling the attention of the first to the fact that the position of the island was more nearly in line with the point where they had left Heiberg Land (Cape Northwest) and the channel between Amund Ringnes Land and Ellef Ringnes Land.

This criticism and correction was accepted by the first boy, who started to change the position of the island, but was stopped, as Commander Peary had given instructions that no changes or erasures were to be made in the route as drawn by the Eskimos on the chart.

From this island they could see two lands beyond (Sverdrup's Ellef Ringnes and Amund Ringnes Lands). From the island they journeyed toward the left hand one of these two lands (Amund Ringnes Land), passing a small island which they did not visit.

Arriving at the shore of Amund Ringnes Land, the Eskimos killed a deer as indicated on the chart.

The above italicised portion of the statement of the Eskimo boys covers the period of time in which Dr. Cook claims to have gone to the Pole and back, and the entire time during which he could possibly have made any attempts to go to it.

The answers of the Eskimo boys to Commander Peary's series of independent questions, showing that they killed no game, made no caches, lost no dogs, and returned to the land with loaded sledges, makes their attainment of the Pole on the trip North of Cape Thomas Hubbard a physical and mathematical impossibility as it would demand the subsistence of three men and over twenty dogs during a journey of ten hundred and forty geographical miles on less than two sledge loads of supplies.

If it is suggested that perhaps Dr. Cook got mixed and that he reached the Pole, or thought he did, between the time of leaving the northwest coast of Heiberg Land at Cape Northwest, and his arrival at Ringnes Land, where they killed the deer, we must then add to the date of Dr Cook's letter of March 17th, at or near Cape Thomas Hubbard, the subsequent four or five sleeps at that point, and the number of days required to march from Cape Thomas Hubbard to Cape Northwest (a distance of some sixty nautical miles), which would advance his date of departure from the land to at least the 25th of March, and be prepared to accept the claim that Dr. Cook went from Cape Northwest (about latitude eighty and a half degrees North) to the Pole, a distance of five hundred and seventy geographical miles, in twenty-seven days.

After killing the deer they then travelled south along the east side of Ringnes Land to the point indicated on the chart, where they killed another deer.

They then went east across the south part of Crown Prince Gustav Sea to the south end of Heiberg Land, then down through Norwegian Bay, where they secured some bears, but not until after they had killed some of their dogs, to the east side of Graham Island; then eastward to the little bay marked "Eid's Fiord" on Sverdrup's chart; then southwest to Hell's Gate and Simmon's Peninsula.

Here for the first time during the entire journey, except as already noted off Cape Thomas H. Hubbard, they encountered open water. On this point the boys were clear, emphatic, and unshakable. They spent a good deal of time in this region, and finally abandoned their dogs and one sledge, took to their boat, crossed Hell's Gate to North Kent, up into Norfolk Inlet, then back along the north coast of Colin Archer Peninsula to Cape Vera, where they obtained fresh eider duck eggs. Here they cut the remaining sledge off, that is shortened it, as it was awkward to transport with the boat, and near here they killed a walrus.

The statement in regard to the fresh eider duck eggs permits the approximate determination of the date at this time as about the first of July. (This statement also serves, if indeed anything more than the inherent straightforwardness and detail of their narrative were needed, to substantiate the accuracy and truthfulness of the boys' statement. This locality of Cape Vera is mentioned in Sverdrup's narrative as the place where during his stay in that region he obtained eider ducks' eggs.)

From Cape Vera they went on down into the southwest angle of Jones Sound where they killed a seal; thence east along the south coast of the Sound, killing three bears at the point noted on the map, to the peninsula known as Cape Sparbo on the map, about midway on the south side of Jones Sound Here they killed some musk-oxen and, continuing east, killed four more at the place indicated on the chart, and were finally stopped by the pack ice at the mouth of Jones Sound From here they turned back to Cape Sparbo, where they wintered and killed many musk-oxen

After the sun returned in 1909 they started, pushing their sledge, across Jones Sound to Cape Tennyson; thence along the coast to Clarence Head (passing inside of two small islands not shown on the chart, but drawn on it by the boys), where they killed a bear; thence across the broad bight in the coast to Cadogan Fiord; thence around Cape Isabella and up to Commander Peary's old house in Payer Harbor near Cape Sabine, where they found a seat cached for them by Panikpah, I-took-a-shoo's father. From here they crossed Smith Sound on the ice, arriving at Anoratok.

Mob in Paris.

Paris, Oct. 11.—Late this afternoon a great mob gathered around the Spanish embassy and the government reinforced the cordon of police. The mob was in an ugly mood and repeatedly cried: "Down with Spain! Down with Alfonso!"

Flaming posters bearing the same words were stuck up all over the city during the night and the police are now attempting to tear them down.

The names of the twelve soldiers who formed the firing squad have been published and the anarchists have marked them for execution.

The Temps says that two Frenchmen were executed in Mont Juich fortress in Barcelona today and that five other Frenchmen are awaiting execution. They are accused of complicity in the July revolution in Barcelona. The Temps story has added fuel to the flames of Spanish hatred.

The Baltimore American credits a professor in an Ohio university with denouncing "so-called sociology and slumming as mere excuses to satisfy vicious curiosity in going to places where no reputable person should be caught" The one regret is that the American does not give the professor's name that one might do it the honor it deserves

The Ohio professor who is trying to make hogs brainier may hope to teach them to grow bigger hams shoulders and chops and less of the stuff the old veterans tell about living on back in war-time

If Mr Harriman left his widow $260,000,000, as now claimed, that original $100 000,000 estate story was probably intended to deceive Mr Inheritance Tax

No use for anybody else to aspire to the presidency in 1912 Taft as good as has it, Collier's Weekly says he has made his reelection impossible

It is no discredit to the mental poise of an aviator to say he is up in the air

Annie Besant says "Hell is what we make it" One would be rash indeed to attempt to controvert the statement of one whose experience goes back for centuries

---

All the columns run about Mr Taft have a tendency to attract attention to the fact that the tail of a successful presidential ticket is a mighty inconsequential proposition at the best

---

It's hard to understand how that Kansas City woman, who at forty has been married and divorced six times and claims that marriage is a failure, ever had time to give married life a chance

---

Possibly Mr Hearst's endorsement of Justice Gaynor for mayor of New York was given with a mental reservation that it was to stand till some man better qualified for the office was named

---

There is one disadvantage in living north of the equator, Christmas comes at the time when the fuel and lighting bills are the heaviest

---

President Taft leans to the view that the man who has never taken to the tall timber has missed the greatest sight ever At least we would judge that from his remarks out among the redwoods of the Yosemite

---

Rear Admiral Bob Evans should be able to pick up some expert testimony on his contention that the American navy is not a bluff, over in Spain

---

Uncle Sam's revenues for the quarter just closed exceeded those of the corresponding quarter of last year by $20,000,000 We don't mind confessing that if our income picked up like that we would have pork chops for breakfast every once in a while

---

In a nutshell Admiral Dewey's suggested plan for preventing war is to maintain such a navy that everybody will be afraid to start one

---

Mr Whysall's line has one decided advantage over that of Mr West so far as local traffic is concerned It is something like thirty-eight miles nearer by the former route to an oasis

---

The only objection Mr Taft has to the Yosemite is that it is located too far from Washington for use as a golf course

Seizing the Opportunity

Doctor You have no reason to believe madam that your husband shot himself intentionally?

Madam—Oh dear, no! It was purely accidental But is he seriously hurt?

Doctor—Quite seriously but I think we can save him.

Madam—What are you going to do now with all those horrid surgical instruments?

Doctor—We are going to probe for the bullet

Madam—Yes? Well doctor, while you are about it won't you be good enough to see if you can't find a gold collar button I lent him last week and that he carelessly swallowed

GETTING EVEN WITH DETECTIVE STILLWELL

Dry Complainant Is Indicted for Kidnaping.

ALLEGED CRIME IS A VERY OLD ONE

Stillwell Elopes with Mrs. Robert Perdue, Twenty-Seven Years Ago, and the Eloping Pair Took Her Infant Daughter Along—Woman Has Since Divorced Stillwell.

Wilbur E. Stillwell, who, as a special detective of the Law and Order league, of this city, caused the arrest of a number of saloonists and bootleggers of Marion and Upper Sandusky, was indicted by the grand jury of Wyandot county, Monday afternoon, on a charge of kidnaping Tillie Perdue, twenty-seven years ago

At the time of the kidnaping Tillie Perdue was two years old. It is charged that Stillwell eloped with the wife of Robert T. Perdue during the visit of the latter in the West, and that he took with him the infant daughter, Tillfe. When Perdue returned from the West his wife and child were gone, an older daughter being left with a relative. Perdue traveled from place to place in search of his wife and child, but was never able to locate them or Stillwell.

When Stillwell filed affidavits against the local saloonists his name appeared in many city papers and fell into the hands of Perdue, who was then with his eldest daughter in Michigan. He returned to Marion as soon as he knew of Stillwell's presence here, and, after consulting attorneys in Marion, went to Upper Sandusky and employed counsel there, the crime having been committed in that county. Stillwell was arrested and in the preliminary hearing plead not guilty. He was bound over to the grand jury, and the indictment returned was the result.

When Stillwell returned to Marion he refused to tell of the whereabouts of the woman with whom he eloped or the child they took with them. It has developed in the past few days that the former Mrs. Perdue is now the wife of a wealthy contractor at Sacramento, California, having divorced Stillwell several years ago. The daughter whom Stillwell is charged with kidnaping is unmarried. They were located through the publication of Mrs. Perdue's picture in a newspaper.

MILLER GREEK DIES AT COUNTRY HOME

Death Comes as Result of Typhoid Fever.

Prospect, Oct. 14.—[Special.]—The Greek home near Newman's is shrouded with sorrow today, death having called to the great beyond the husband and father, Miller Greek. Mr Greek had been ill of typhoid fever for the past three weeks, and those about his bedside knew that the visit of the grim reaper was not far away. He quietly passed away Wednesday night at 10 o'clock.

The deceased was sixty-one years of age and had resided in and about Prospect his entire life. His honest, straightforward life won for him many friends, and the respect and esteem of those with whom his business dealings brought him in contact.

A widow and one daughter, Mrs. Samuel Woodard, of Prospect, with his five sisters, Mrs. Martha Finley and Mrs Dennie Moloney, of Marion; Mrs Elizabeth Moore, Mrs. Sarah Phillips and Mrs. Delilah Riley, of Prospect, are left to mourn their great loss.

The funeral will be held from the Baptist church at this place, Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. A. J. Clere will have charge of the services. The remains will be laid to rest in the Prospect cemetery.

The daughter of the Duke of Fife is the choice made for the royal spouse of the young King of Portugal, it appears. This is doing very well—for Portugal. The Duke married Princess Louise, eldest daughter of King Edward, in 1889, so that King Manuel's queen will be the granddaughter of the present King of Great Britain and Ireland.

ALLIANCE MEETING AT SMELTZER HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smeltzer Host and Hostess.

The Young People's alliance, of the Calvary Evangelical church, held its monthly business meeting, Tuesday evening, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smeltzer, south of the city. The attendance was large. The meeting was opened with a song, followed by prayer by a number of the members.

The reports of the various committees and treasurer of the society were read.

The members of the society decided to carpet the basement of the church, and to raise funds for the carpet it was decided to hold a contest. The carpet will be sold at a certain price, the contest being between the side composed of four girls and captained by Miss Era Huggins, against four boys, captained by Earl Ruhlman.

Following the business session a social time was enjoyed and the members related interesting incidents which occurred on their vacations. During the refreshment period, an orchestra rendered a pleasing program.

The next meting of the society will be held the second Tuesday in November with Miss Grace Diehl, of Windsor street.

HENRY PFEIFFER IS BADLY INJURED

Right Hand Is Caught in a Mixing Machine.

Henry Pfeiffer, an employe at the German bakery, on north Main street, met with a serious accident, Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock, that may result in the loss of one of his hands. Pfeiffer was working with some dough when he had his right hand caught in the mixing machine. Part of the thumb was torn off, his fingers were badly torn and lacerated and the flesh of the hand was partly torn off. He went to the office of Dr. I. M. Hoskins, who with the assistance of Dr. F. M. Baldwin, gave the victim an anaesthetic and rendered the necessary surgical attention.

L. V. UNCAPHER RECEIVES LETTER

He Is Threatened If He Does Not Place Money in a Given Spot—Secures Friends and Lays Trap, but Desifed Parties Fail To Appear. A Dreary Wait.

Luthur V. Uncapher, the well-known contractor, is not alarmed, but he would like to know the author or authors of the letters demanding money and received by him. Several weeks ago he received the first one and two boys were seen at the spot near Webb park, where the money was to have been deposited. These boys were believed to have been the authors of the "Black Hand" letters, but they gave a good explanation of their presence at the place at the hour designated in the letter, and no arrests followed.

When Mr. Uncapher came home from Mt. Gilead, Sunday, he received another letter similar to the first one, in which it was demanded that he place a certain sum of money at a certain spot near the ball park, Monday night.

Mr. Uncapher did not notify the police, but he told two of his friends. It was planned that his friends should go to the park and hide, while he would go to the spot indicated at the time the letter dictated and leave an envelope which would be supposed to contain the money. He told his friends that he would then lie in wait with them.

Monday night it was raining and the atmosphere was extremely uncomfortable, but Uncapher and his two friends were determined to catch the "Black Handers." They lay in wait in the rain with guns to their shoulders until after midnight, but no one came for the envelope.

It was 12:30 o'clock when Uncapher said, "Oh, I am freezing. Let's go home." His friends were only too willing

If some one is playing an alleged joke on Uncapher and he discovers the indentity of the individual, there is sure to be trouble.

IDENTIFICATION OF CHARLES M'CLAIN

Is a Prisoner in the Morrow County Jail.

Sheriff Charles Chilcote, of Mt. Gilead, came to Marion, Tuesday, and established the identity of Harry Smith held in the Morrow county jail for burglary, as Charles McClain, of Marion.

A few days ago Sheriff Chilcote received from the Mansfield reformatory a card, bearing the picture of a paroled prisoner from that institution. The picture convinced the sheriff that he had the prisoner in jail under the name of Smith. The card, however, said his name was McClain, who had been sent to the reformatory from this county for larceny.

To make certain Sheriff Chilcote visited Marion and made an investigation for him. The card may lead to the identity of a quartet caught in the act of burglarizing a store at Edison.

McClain, alias Smith, told the Mt. Gilead authorities that his home was in Lynchburg, Virginia.

WILL HATCH MANY BASS DURING COMING SEASON

Demand for Black Brass Growing in Every Quarter.

AN IMPROVEMENT IN HATCHING PLANS

The Net Fishermen Are Practically Driven Out of Business and Sportsmen Are Uniting To Help Make the Bass Fishing Better Throughout the Entire Country.

"We shall hatch 500,000,000 lake bass the coming winter and spring," said State Game Warden Speaks in an interview in the Ohio State Journal, after he had returned from a trip to Lake Erie, "and," he added, "we hope to hatch at least 2,000,000 black bass for inland use."

He said that the hatching of lake fish is conducted on a large scale and under known conditions, while the spawning and raising of black bass must be largely left to nature. At London are sixteen ponds where black bass are hatched but there is yet little known that will facilitate the hatching of the spawn.

"It is only in the last eight or ten years that the state has attempted to spawn black bass," continued General Speaks "and the demand is far, far in excess of what we can supply. Fishing has been pretty good in almost all parts of the state the last season and that only whets the appetite and createst a demand for more. The fact that we have practically driven out net fishing has improved the sport of hook and line fishing, has drawn a better class of men to follow the sport and these men are giving it some study and naturally want the best and gamiest fish they can have.

"The demand for black bass is spreading all over the United States. It used to be restricted to relatively small area of the country, but the bass satisfies so many conditions of a game fish that the demand for it exceeds the possible supply.

"In a general way I think it is safe to say that the game fish are always the better table fish, although there may be exceptions to this. The demand for this fish is such that we shall not attempt to breed any other at the London hatcheries this year. The fish spawn in the spring and we shall be busy all next summer distributing them."

CIVIL WAR RAGES IN ABYSSINIA

The Trouble Is Believed To Foreshadow a War of Succession.

Rome, Oct. 14.—A civil war is raging in Abyssinia, according to today's despatches from Adis Abeba, the capital, owing to the province of Tigre resisting the appointment by King Menelik of Delgiac Abate as the military commander of the province. Several battles have been fought, with heavy loss of life, and the conflict is spreading to other provinces.

The trouble is believed to foreshadow a war of succession to the throne after the aged king Menelik's death.

THE JURY DISAGREES IN THE BACHER CASE

Stands Ten for Acquittal and Two for Conviction.

JURY DELIBERATES THE ENTIRE NIGHT

Relatives Wait All Night in Court-Room for the Verdict—The Trial of John Ormiston Is Postponed. Two Important Witnesses Missing. Some Court Notes.

The jury in the trial of Gertrude Bacher, indicted for pointing and discharging firearms and injuring fourteen-year-old William Bowles, reported a disagreement, Wednesday morning, after remaining out all night.

The jurors stood ten for acquittal and two for conviction. They were charged by Judge Daniel Babst and retired for deliberation, Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock. The defendant and several of her relatives waited in the court-room all night and were present when the jury reported.

Attorneys H. Edmund Hill and Harry N. Quigley represented the defendant.

The trial of John Ormiston, which was to have been held Wednesday, has been continued on account of the state being unable to locate two important witnesses. The defense has subpoenad witnesses from many different parts of the state.

Ormiston was indicted for burglary and for forcing an entrance to a safe. He will be tried on the latter charge first.

Purlina Anderson was granted a decree of divorce from Frank E. Anderson, by Judge Daniel Babst, Thursday, in the common pleas court. Alimony had been agreed upon out of court.

Mrs. Anderson filed her petition for divorce, July 10, 1909, just twenty years to the day after she was married to the defendant.

In her bill, the plaintiff alleged that the defendant had frequently assaulted and threatened to kill her. When she went to a neighbor's or to the city to do some trading she averred that he locked her from home and refused to allow her to enter. She is the mother of two children.

J. W. Jacoby has been appointed guardian ad litem of Ray Randall and others, minor defendants in a suit of partition brought by Charles R. Randall, with leave to answer instanter.

The motion to oust Dr. C. E. Sawyer as receiver for the Ohio Sanatorium company was argued before Judge Daniel Babst, in the common pleas court, Wednesday night. Attorney Thomas E. Powell, of Columbus, claimed that Dr. Sawyer was appointed without the authority of law because the required number of stockholders had not sanctioned the action, and that the petition did not state sufficient facts to constitute a cause of action. He represented Henley C. Rutter, of Columbus, who is seeking to have a receiver appointed in the Franklin county common pleas court.

Attorney Fred E. Guthery, of this city, represented the Dr. C. E. Sawyer interests and in his argument claimed that all the proceedings were regular. He maintained that it was clearly within the jurisdiction of the local common pleas court to name a receiver for the Ohio Sanatorium company.

NOT WITHIN TWENTY MILES OF THE SUMMIT

Barrill Says Dr. Cook Never Climbed Mt. McKinley.

New York, Oct. 14.—The fight of the Peary adherents to prove that Dr. F. A. Cook did not discover the North pole, today took a new tack, the Peary followers this time, by attacking Dr Cook's alleged conquest of Mount McKinley, attempting to show by inferences that Dr. Cook is not to be believed.

In an interview Dr. Cook claimed that he had sent to Missoula, Montana, for Burrill and Prince, the two guides he claimed were with him when he made his alleged ascent of Mount McKinley.

In refutation of this statement there was made public in New York this afternoon, from mysterious sources an affidavit signed by Edward N. Barrill, of Darby, Montana, who swears that he is the man Cook calls "Burrill" and that he was with Cook on his trip; that Cook did not climb Mount McKinley and that as a matter of fact Dr. Cook was not within twenty miles of the summit of the peak.

Barrill swears his story of the trip is "doctored" at Dr. Cook's orders. Barrill swears that the photograph Dr Cook publishes in his book "To the Top of the Continent," as being a photograph taken on the top of Mount McKinley, was in reality taken at the top of a glacier twenty miles away.

PROFESSOR FERRIN IS SHOT TO DEATH

Cerbere, France, Oct. 13.—The execution of Professor Francisco Ferrer for complicity in the Barcelona revolution of July, took place this morning at 9 o'clock, in the Montjuich fortress is Barcelona. He was shot to death against a wall by a picked squad.

The execution was accomplished without any untoward incident, according to one despatch, though another declares that a great crowd awaited outside the fortress and, roared and clamored its opposition, being finally dispersed by soldiers. Spanish Liberals, not including the terrorists, but the most moderate wing, are preparing a proclamation today informing the country that all the evidence against Ferrer in which the court-martial found him guilty consisted of forgeries by the police. There was no evidence against Ferrer that would have been acceptable in an ordinary court, the proclamation says.

Grand Commandery Meeting in the City.

BRILLIANT BALL AT MASONIC TEMPLE

Many Dignitaries of the Order Are in Attendance

Commanderies from Various Cities Appear in the Parade, Wednesday—Officers Are Elected During a Business Session and Other Matters of Importance Are Given Attention—A Successful Meeting

Four hundred guests attended the grand ball which formally opened the sixty seventh annual conclave of the Grand Commandery of Ohio Knights Templars, Tuesday night at the Masonic temple. It was a ball [illegible] affair—brilliantly spectacular and brilliantly successful. A pleasing military effect was added by the appearance of all sir knights in their bright uniforms minus the swords. The scene was almost gorgeous but beautiful and decidedly pleasing to behold.

A twelve piece orchestra was stationed in the balcony and rendered an exceptionally entertaining program of dance numbers.

The grand march, a magnificent spectacle, was led by Miss Cleo Sweney and her father Past Eminent Commander B P Sweney of Marion Commandery No 6.

Many of the grand officers and visiting sir knights arrived here Tuesday night, in time to attend the ball but the major portion came next morning.

[illegible] Commandery, No 48 with about forty or fifty of its members was the first to arrive Wednesday at 7 o'clock.

Mt Vernon Commandery No 1 with the Fourth Regiment band and about 100 sir knights in line arrived here on a special train from Columbus shortly before 9 o'clock.

Bellefontaine Commandery No 61 also came in a special train at 9 o'clock with forty members in line.

Erie Commandery No [illegible] accompanied by the Second Regiment band and sixty members in line arrived Wednesday. It acted as escort to the Grand Commandery officers and marched to headquarters at Hotel Kamfort.

Hotel Marion was headquarters for the Grand Commandery. Eminent Sir Knight Edmund B King of Sandusky the grand commander was assigned to parlor No 7. Eminent Sir Knight John N Bell grand recorder was given parlor No 71.

The Parade Wednesday

The parade, which was scheduled to take place at [illegible] o'clock was late in starting on account of the late arrival of some of the visiting sir knights. At [illegible] the visiting commanderies [illegible] at the Masonic temple to [illegible] the Grand Commandery. The commanderies [illegible] Center street [illegible] band and [illegible] Grand Commandery which formed at Hotel Marion.

At [illegible] o'clock the parade [illegible] south on State street to Church, thence east on Church to Greenwood street north on Greenwood to Center and west on Center [illegible] south on Gr[illegible] to Church [illegible] on Church to the Masonic temple where the parade disbanded.

Hundreds of people witnessed the parade as it moved over the line of march designated. Homes and business blocks were gaily decorated with Masonic emblems and the stars and stripes. The white plumed chapeaus, the dangling scabbards and the fine uniform of the sir knights, black and white with the gold braided uniforms of the Grand commandery presented a striking picture.

The Division

The parade was headed by Captains Dan Evans, George B Christian and David Evans, mounted, followed by the People's band with Robert C Cheney in fantastic uniform leading and swaying his baton to the music's measures. The Marion band played several stirring marches.

Marion Commandery No 6 with Eminent Commander James A Knapp and 150 sir knights in line came after the band. Marion commandery was followed by Ke[illegible] commandery, then came the Fourth Regiment band at the head of Mt Vernon Commandery No 1 of Columbus. This commandery, the first organized in Ohio and finest drilled in the state won the applause of spectators by the execution of a military [illegible] various stages along the line of march and other difficult maneuvers.

The Bellefontaine commandery was the next in the order of the parade's formation followed by the Second Regiment band and Erie commandery of Sandusky. The Grand commandery officers declined to ride in the carriages provided for them and marched with Erie commandery of which the retiring grand commander Edmund B King is a member.

The Grand Officers

The following Grand commandery officers were in line:

Grand Commander Edmund B King of Sandusky, Deputy Grand Commander Charles F Henry of Marietta, Grand Generalissimo J Russell Johnston of Dayton, Grand Captain General Charles H Pichorn of Cleveland, Grand Senior Warden Henry Schaefer of Toledo, Grand Junior Warden Charles L Logan of Cincinnati, Grand Treasurer Lafayette Lytle of Toledo, Grand Recorder John Nelson Bell of Dayton, Grand Standard Bearer Campbell M Voorhees of Columbus, Grand Sword Bearer Nelson Williams of Hamilton, Grand Warder Robert E Whitaker of Defiance, Grand Captain of the Guard George S McGuire of Marion.

William B Melish of Cincinnati right eminent deputy grand master of the Grand encampment of the United States Knights Templars, the second highest officer of the commandery in the United States, marched with Grand Commander King.

Officers Elected

After arriving at the temple the conclave was opened by Grand Commander King. Sir Knight Busby P Sweney made the address of welcome in which he delivered the [illegible] keys of the city to the visitors and Grand Commander King responded in a most pleasing manner. The regular business of the conclave was then taken up. The address of the retiring Grand commander was presented in printed form [illegible] Marion [illegible] report.

Marietta was chosen as the next place of meeting and the following officers were elected:

Right Eminent Sir Knight Charles F Henry of Marietta Grand commander.

[illegible] Eminent Sir Knight J [illegible] of Dayton deputy grand commander.

Eminent Sir Knight Charles H [illegible] of Cleveland grand generalissimo.

Eminent Sir Knight Henry Schaefer of Toledo, Grand captain general.

Eminent Sir Knight Charles L Logan of Cincinnati grand senior warden.

Eminent Sir Knight Campbell M Voorhees of Columbus Grand junior warden.

Eminent Sir Knight [illegible] Fisher [illegible] Grand prelate.

Right Eminent Sir Knight Lafayette Lytle of Toledo Grand treasurer.

Eminent Sir Knight John N Bell of Dayton Grand recorder.

Eminent Sir Knight Nelson Williams of Hamilton Grand standard bearer.

Eminent Sir Knight Robert E Whitaker of Defiance Grand sword bearer.

Eminent Sir Knight George Knight of Springfield Grand warder.

Eminent Sir Knight George S McGuire, of Marion Grand captain of the guard.

The Installation

The new officers were installed by Right Eminent Deputy Grand Master Melish of the Grand encampment.

After the adoption of the following resolution the conclave was closed at [illegible] o'clock Wednesday afternoon:

Resolved That the thanks of the Grand commandery are due and are hereby tendered to the officers and sir knights of Marion Commandery No 6 and their ladies and to the citizens who have assisted them in the magnificent entertainment provided for the officers and members of the Grand commandery and for the courteous hospitality and good fellowship which has assured us of the warmth and sincerity of their welcome to this annual conclave so fraternally extended to us.

A Testimonial

As a testimonial to Grand Commander King of Sandusky, Erie Commandery No [illegible] of that city came down with sixty swords and took part in the ceremonies of the day. The commandery reached here about 7 o'clock Tuesday evening and was quartered at Hotel Kamfort. Later in the evening the members repaired to the Commercial club house where a committee was directed to pay a suitable tribute to the Grand commander. James A Ryan of Sandusky was selected to represent the commandery and the committee and after a pleasing address presented the grand commander a beautiful cluster of American Beauty roses.

The now past grand master is held in the highest esteem by all Masons throughout the country as well as those of his own city who joined in giving him such a pleasing reminder of the [illegible] he has endeared to the order.

Templar Notes

"It was the finest ball I have ever attended in Ohio," said Eminent Commander J Edward Orr of Mt Vernon Commandery Wednesday.

The visiting sir knights were much impressed with the city's appearance from a decorative standpoint. Many comments were made by them relative to the numerous flags and Knight Templar emblems on display.

Buffet lunch was served from 10 a m Wednesday until [illegible] o'clock that afternoon at the Masonic temple. It was one of the best ever put up here consisting of about everything good in the way of edibles.

Although he fell Wednesday and sustained a fracture of the right arm William Fies a past eminent commander of Marion Commandery appeared in the parade [illegible] from a ladder at his home Wednesday.

The visiting commanderies were met at the station by the People's band and a reception committee.

Marion commandery had a good representation of its past eminent commanders in the parade all appearing but three. The past commanders in the line of march were William Pland, John H Butters, George D Copeland, Milton B Dicker[illegible] on, Daniel Evans, William Fies, John A Huber, Jacob C Leffler, George S McGuire, Busby P Sweney, Michael Waddell and John E Waddell.

They came, they saw, they conquered. In hoc signo vinces. The Latin words on the flags displayed over the town were appropos. In this sign we conquer.

It [illegible] generally known that [illegible] Curtin is a past eminent commander of the Knights Templar commandery at Hillsboro two of the Grand commandery officers elected Wednesday's sixty seventh annual conclave in this city would have been Marion men.

When the conclave convened in the morning the grand prelate was [illegible] Rev Mr Curtin pastor of the [illegible] Baptist church was [illegible] to that position. [illegible] came to the election of officers there was no nomination and those assembled had no [illegible] for a candidate [illegible] the name of Bishop John M Walden of Cincinnati was sprung and he was elected.

Not until the conclave was over did the Marion Knights Templars learn that their own temporary grand prelate was a past eminent commander and eligible to the election of grand prelate.

Owing to the fact that the business of the conclave was early completed Wednesday afternoon nearly all visiting sir knights and the Grand commandery officers had left town by evening. All left the city voting Marion one of the most hospitable places they had ever had the good fortune to meet in as a fraternal body. All Marion received them with open arms and all Marion admired them.

[illegible] threw open the doors of [illegible] hall and club rooms for the entertainment of the visitors Wednesday afternoon and evening. A splendid buffet lunch was served and many went to enjoy a game of cards, pool or billiards and to partake of the spread offered.

Wednesday night and Thursday all Marion Knights Templars were convinced that they had entertained the commanderies' conclave with the brand of hospitality that will not soon fade from the memories of those who attended for practically all the visitors had been profuse in complimenting the local commandery. Thursday came letters expressing the same sentiment in a more [illegible].

The following committees were in charge of arrangements:

A BEAUTIFUL WEDDING CELEBRATED AT CHURCH

Miss Mildred Dombaugh Wife of Mr. Lowell H. Guthery.

SERVICE PERFORMED AT ST. PAUL'S CHURCH

A Large Company Witnesses the Marriage Rites—Ceremony Is Performed by Rev. Richard M. Brown. Mr. and Mrs. Guthery Leave for a Journey in the East.

A beautiful wedding was solemnized, Thursday evening, at 7:30 o'clock, at St. Paul's Episcopal church, when Miss Mildred Ellen Dombaugh, the attractive daughter of Mrs. Laura A. Dombaugh, of north State street, and Mr. Lowell Hord Guthery, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Guthery, of east Center street, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony.

The church was handsomely decorated in ferns, vines, palms, potted plants and white chrysanthemums with wide bows of white satin ribbon marking the seats reserved for the immediate families. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Richard M. Brown and the beautiful Episcopal ring service was used. The bride entered the church on the arm of her uncle, Captain Harry M. Dombaugh, who gave her in marriage. She was gowned in an exquisite white mousseline, made princess and trimmed with Irish point lace. Her veil was caught with orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of the same flowers. Her only sister, Miss Alice Dombaugh, was maid of honor, and was gowned in white point de espray over soft silk and carried a gorgeous creation of a muff, made of asparagus ferns with two big, white chrysanthemums nestling in the green, and bows of white ribbos. Mr. Carl Juvenal attended the groom. The bridesmaids were Miss Hilda Garberson, in a pink chiffon with pearl trimmings; Miss Ruth Fisher, in a white embroidered mousseline; Miss Roma Hofstetter, in green chiffon with lace trimmings, and Miss Helen Rosenberg in yellow chiffon with gold lace trimmings. The gowns were made much on the same style, with train. No hats were worn, but all carried the fern muffs. The ushers were Messrs. John Sells, Clifford Stoll, Frank Knapp and Cyril Guthery. As the party entered the church and throughout the ceremony; Mrs. Victor E. Dombaugh, an aunt of the bride, presided at the organ and rendered Mendelssohn's wedding march.

After the marriage rites, a reception was given at the home of the bride's mother, which was elaborately decorated with white bride roses and asparagus ferns. A fine wedding supper was served. The bride's table was adorned with a profusion of white roses that commingled with green. Lighted green candles in cut-glass candelabras sent forth tiny rays of light that cast a bewitching spell over all. The bride gave dainty favors to her maids and Mr. Guthery presented his ushers stickpins of enamel, in rare workmanship.

Amidst a shower of rice, rose leaves, and good wishes, Mr. and Mrs. Guthery left at a late hour for a honeymoon in the East, where they will pass a couple of weeks.

Guests from out of the city were: Mrs. S. L. Hodges and son, Preston, of Cleveland; Misses Jean and Edna Vollrath, of Bucyrus; Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Juvenal, of Urbana; Mr. and Mrs. John Guthery, of Delaware; Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Drybread, of Franklin, Indiana; Mr. and Mrs. William Drake, of La Rue; Dr. and Mrs. H. Chisholm, of Cleveland; Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Guthery, of La Rue, and Mr. W. H. Cookston, of Meeker.

SOCIETY.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Baker gave an elaborate dinner of sixteen covers, at their home, on east Center street, Tuesday evening, honoring a number of Sir Knights and their ladies who are attending the convention. The table decorations were a profusion of flowers, with Masonic emblems and colors. The men were in uniform and the women in beautiful gowns. All went directly from the dinner to the reception and dance, at the Masonic temple, where they joined in the merry maze of the dance. Those accepting of Mr. and Mrs. Baker's hospitality were Mr. and Mrs. Burnside, of Meeker; Mr. and Mrs. Charles McKelvey and daughter, Lois, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Mason, and Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Frame, of Meeker; Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Clifton, of DeCliff, and Mr. Carl Baker, of Kenton.

* * *

Mrs. Delbert Sautter, of Forest street, was given a delightful surprise, Wednesday evening, by a number of her friends who dropped in to help celebrate her birthday anniversary. Music, games and social chat formed the pleasures of the evening, and an oyster supper was served.

Mrs. Sautter received many useful and beautiful presents.

SOCIETY

Members of the Current Topic club held their second meeting of the season at the home of Mrs. J. B. Hume, on State street, Tuesday afternoon. This is to be a year of work for every member of the club, as they are reaching out for a fuller realization of their purpose—that of an ideal club existence where each at all times freely voices her opinion and all make the meetings an exchange of suggestion and thought. Responses to roll call were "Quotations from Colonial Writers." Mrs. Will Hunt gave an enthusiastic talk on "Literature of the South." Selections of "Colonial Verses" were read by Mrs. D. L. Sellers which were beautiful. Mrs. J. E. Thomas sang very sweetly and gave helpful hints on "Colonial Customs" followed by "Current Topics" by members of the club. Mrs. J. B. Kearse and Mrs. C. T. Wiant were chosen delegates to represent the club at the convention in Lima. The only guest of the club was Mrs. M. A. Koogler, of Eldorado, Kansas. The next meeting will be held with Mrs. D. E. J. Brockett, at her home on east Church street.

DOG TAX—In addition to the foregoing tax, there is levied a per capita tax of one dollar on male, and two dollars on female dogs, payable in one installment at December collection.

The Treasurer's office will be open from 8 to 11:30 a. m. and 12.30 to 4 p. m. standard time. The remainder of the day is absolutely necessary for other essential clerical duties.

Tax Payers will carefully examine their receipts and see that they are paying taxes on all their property, as under the new rules a separate tax receipt must be issued for property located in each of the taxing districts.

W. C. WOTTRING, County Treasurer.

Treasurer's Office, Marion County, Marion, Ohio.
